HEALTH of LONDON in 1855.

If the population of London has increased since the census of 1851 at the same rate at which it increased during the ten years that preceded it, namely 1·97 per cent. annually, the number of inhabitants at the beginning of 1855 was about 2,540,000. This population was increased by 84,944 children born in the course of the year, and was diminished by 61,506 persons removed by death. If the account were not disturbed by immigrants and emigrants, who are ever in motion, the gain to the population would be 23,438.

The births exceeded only by 260 those registered in 1854. The increase is very small. This is perhaps the effect of the high prices of food; and of war, which removes married men from their homes to occupy garrisons and encampments, to man the fleets, or as workmen to furnish the mighty equipments of sea and land.

The deaths contrast favourably with those in 1854, for they were less by more than 12,000 than in that year of the cholera epidemic. But the mortality of 1855, compared with that of some years unvisited by any serious epidemic, was not low, the very cold weather of the winter months (January, February, and March) having swelled the Weekly Returns to unusual proportions. In some weeks, at that time, the deaths exceeded, in others they fell not much short of 1,600; whilst in six weeks the mean weekly temperature was below freezing point. In the seventh week of the year the mean temperature was only  $25^{\circ}4'$ , and in the week following the deaths rose to 1604.

The mortality in 1855 was at the rate of 24 deaths to 1000 persons living. In the nine years 1847–55 the proportion varied from 21 to 30 in a thousand. But different parts of London enjoy, or suffer from, various degrees of salubrity or insalubrity; a fact which is seen, though not to its full extent, by taking the five great divisions in which its thirty-six districts are classed. Last year the rate of mortality varied from 23 in 1000 in the Western and Northern divisions, to 25 in 1000 in the Eastern division. It is worthy of notice that the Eastern division is subject to a rather higher mortality than the Southern (which lies south of the river), except in cholera years, when the epidemic taking advantage of a lower level causes the mortality to rise higher on the south side. The years 1850 and 1851, in which the mortality was nearly the same in the two divisions, furnish the only instances within the nine years which can be adduced against the operation of this rule.

The mortality of 1855 attained its maximum in the fourth week of the year, when the deaths numbered 1630; the lowest numbers were 915 (in the third week of July) and 870 (in the second week of October). From  $25^{\circ}$  of mean temperature in a week of February to  $64^{\circ}$  in a week of July the range is  $39^{\circ}$ . At one of the thermal extremes 700 persons died in a week more than at the other.

In a series of years the deaths in a district may be doubled or trebled, or reduced to less than their former amount, while the rate of mortality remains unaffected. Populations are in constant movement. Hospitals, workhouses, and prisons are shut in one part, and opened in another. Streets and squares spring up in the suburbs, to be occupied by the former tenants of neighbourhoods that have been the dwelling-places of generations. The annual average of deaths in Islington in the four years 1846–49 was 1661; in the last four years (1852–55), population having meanwhile rapidly increased, it was 2490. In St. Martin-in-the-fields the averages of the two periods were 654 and 605, showing an absolute decrease. But the greater salubrity of Islington as compared with St. Martin is shown by their annual rates of mortality, which are 19 (to a thousand living) in the former and 24 in the latter.

In 1855 phthisis destroyed 7545 persons, nearly the eighth part of the whole number who died in London in the year. About the same number died from this disease in the first quarter as in the second; and about the same in the third as in the fourth; while the proportion of deaths in the first half of the year to those in the second half was as 21 to 16. Next in order of mortality was bronchitis, which carried off 5512 persons, and was nearly as fatal in the first three months as it was in all the rest of the year. Pneumonia was fatal in 3992 cases, and declined from 1559 in winter to 492 in summer. Both these diseases were very fatal, for more than others they grow or decay as the air is colder or warmer, and the mean temperature of the winter was nearly  $6^{\circ}$  below the average of 14 previous winters.

The remainder of the year was also cold, with the exception of summer, which was rather warmer than usual.

Of epidemics scarlatina was the most fatal, and numbered 2602 victims; hooping-cough 2415; typhus 2332; diarrhoea 2061; small-pox 1024; measles 864. Fifty-nine deaths from scarlatina were recorded in the sub-district of Kensington Town; 48 in the sub-district of Tottenham-court-road; 56 in Somers Town; 42 in Kentish Town; 125 in Islington; 106 in Woolwich; 29 in Plumstead; and to many other parts the disease extended its ravages. 42 deaths from small-pox occurred in Woolwich; 157 in the West sub-district of Islington, which contains the Small-pox Hospital.

For every 5 persons, or rather more, who died in London, one died in a work-house, hospital, or other public institution. Of the 11,310 who thus closed their career not in their own homes, 6552 died in workhouses, 456 in lunatic asylums, 71 in prisons, the rest in hospitals for the sick, the infirm, or for the aged soldiers and sailors who had served the State.

In the Table of Occupations it is shown that of 15,395 men who died aged 20 years and upwards there were (to select a few cases) 575 shoemakers out of 26,639 of that trade who were living in 1851, at the census; 456 tailors out of 20,257 living; 204 bakers out of 9841 living; 460 carpenters and joiners out of 21,174; 158 butchers out of 7428; 254 licensed victuallers and beer-shop keepers out of 6843; 109 cabmen out of 2591. As the persons engaged in various callings are distributed in different proportions through several periods of life, and as the rate of mortality depends on age, an analysis of the ages of the living and dying must be made before deductions regarding the comparative salubrity of professions can be drawn with safety.

* The Annual Mortality in this Table is deduced from the Population of 1841 and 1851 corrected for increase at each year, and the deaths registered in London in each of the several years, correction being made for the difference between 364 and 365·25636 days.

† The Summaries of the Weekly Tables for the Years 1847 and 1853 contain the deaths in 53 weeks; in this calculation a correction has been made for the difference between 365·25636 and 371 days.

* The deaths from metria, and those from rheumatic fever, in the first 7 years are included, the former under childbirth, the latter under rheumatism. Noma was classed with mortification in the first 4 years.

† The reduction of numbers under dropsy after 1845 is due to the improvement effected by the forms for medical certificates; and some other changes in the Tables are probably due to the same cause.

‡ Including the deaths referred to tumour in the first 7 years.

REGISTERED in the YEARS 1841-1855.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the year.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

SUPPLY OF WATER by the principal LONDON WATER COMPANIES in 1853 and 1855. (From Returns furnished by the respective Companies.)

Company.	Source of Supply.		Number of Houses supplied.		Quantity of Water supplied daily.		Process of Filtration.
	30th Sept. 1853.	30th Sept. 1855.	30th Sept. 1853.	30th Sept. 1855.	1853.	1855.	30th Sept. 1853.	30th Sept. 1855.
1. WEST MIDDLESEX -	The Thames at Barnes, Surrey; about 1½ miles westward of Hammer-smith Bridge.	The Thames at Hampton, Middlesex; about 6 miles above Teddington Lock and 15 miles above former source at Barnes.	(a) 24,806	(a) 27,333	Gallons. 5,056,560	Gallons. 6,192,072	No filtration; depuration by subsidence in two large reservoirs at Barnes.	After depuration by subsidence as before, the water passes through filter beds of 4½ acres in area, composed of layers of gravel and fine clean river sand.
2. GRAND JUNCTION -	The Thames between Kew Bridge and Richmond.	The Thames above Hampton, ½ mile above Hampton Village, 1½ mile above Moulsey Lock, 6 miles above Teddington Lock, 26 miles above London Bridge.	16,417	17,069	(b) 5,144,319	(b) 5,926,512	Through a filtering medium composed of layers of washed shingle of various sizes and sharp sand.	Same as in 1853, but 1 to 2 feet have been added to the portion of medium consisting of sharp sand, and 150,000 superficial feet to the area of the filtering beds. Three additional reservoirs of deposit and subsidence have likewise been added.
3. NEW RIVER -	Chadwell Spring, River Lee, and several wells.	Chadwell Spring, River Lee, and several wells.	(c) 93,714	(c) 96,746	17,537,396	24,928,000	—	The works contemplated in the Company's Act of 1852 are nearly completed, and will be in operation by the time specified therein.
4. EAST LONDON -	River Lee at Lee Bridge Mills.	River Lee, near Chingford, Essex, 10½ miles beyond tidal influence.	62,531	67,215	11,981,432	14,797,789	—	The process of filtration carried out by this Company on the 30th Sept. 1855 was through an extensive surface of sand. The Metropolitan Water Act of 1852 did not require that this process should be put into operation previously to 31st December 1855.
5. SOUTHWARK AND VAUXHALL.	The Thames at Battersea	The Thames at Hampton, ½ mile above Hampton Village, 1½ mile above Moulsey Lock, 6 miles above Teddington Lock, 26 miles above London Bridge.	39,346	41,529	(d) 7,287,289	(d) 8,857,993	Through a filtering medium composed of layers of washed shingle of various sizes and sharp sand.	Same as in 1853, but 1 to 2 feet have been added to the portion of medium consisting of sharp sand, and 66,000 superficial feet to the area of the filtering beds. Two additional reservoirs of deposit and subsidence have likewise been added.
6. CHELSEA -	The Thames at Chelsea	(The Company is about to abandon the present source of supply at Chelsea, and adopt another, as required by Act of Parliament.)	—	—	—	—	—	—

(a) The number of houses supplied includes 620 houses in 1853 and 1697 in 1855 supplied for the Hampstead Company.

(b) The Grand Junction Company return as their daily supply 6,001,703 Gallons in 1853 and 6,914,264 Gallons in 1855 for sic days in the week; a seventh has been deducted from these quantities to give the average for seven days.

(c) Included in these numbers are 2790 houses in 1853, and 3194 in 1855, supplied by the New River Company in the district of the Hampstead Company.

(d) The Southwark Company return 8,501,827 Gallons in 1853 and 10,000,642 Gallons in 1855 for six days in the week, and 2,000,000 on Sundays as their daily supply; a correction has been made to obtain the average daily supply for seven days in the week.

[No. 1.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the first week of the year the deaths of 1404 persons, namely 671 males and 733 females, were registered in the metropolis. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number of deaths was 1313. With a correction for increase of population, necessary for the purpose of comparison, this average becomes 1444, a result which differs to no great extent from the number of deaths as returned last week.

Of the 1404 deaths 692 occurred under 20 years of age, 193 at 20 years and under 40, 213 at 40 and under 60, 246 at 60 years and under 80, and 60 were deaths of octogenarians. Of 335 which were caused by zymotic diseases 265 occurred in the first vicenniad; of 36 referred to small-pox 6 were those of persons who had attained their twentieth year. Of 140 cases in which phthisis (consumption) was fatal 19 occurred under 20 years, 76 in the period 20-40, 37 in the period 40-60, and the remaining 8 under 80 years of age.

The Return of this week contains two new Tables.

The first Table, page 3, exhibits for the first time the occupations of the males who died in London at the four vicennial periods 20-40, 40-60, 60-80, and 80 and upwards, in juxta-position with the numbers of the living enumerated at the last census (1851). The investigations, of which this is an example, will assist us in determining the influence of occupation on life, and longevity.

The second Table, page 7, shows the distribution of small-pox, measles, scarlatina, hooping-cough, diarrhœa, and typhus over the several sub-districts of London; thus, it will be observed that small-pox has been chiefly fatal in the north, east, and south districts; while no death from small-pox occurred in the west districts. Measles prevails chiefly in Bethnal-green and St. George-in-the-East. Scarlatina is widely diffused, and proved fatal in 85 instances. Hooping-cough was fatal in 64 cases. The west, north, and south districts suffered from diarrhœa; the east and south districts from typhus.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

LAMBETH; Norwood.—At Mount Pleasant, on 30th December, the wife of an agricultural labourer, aged 32 years, “diarrhœa.” The medical man states:—“I consider the death of this woman to have been hastened by the unhealthy dwelling in which she resided; it is unfit for human habitation.”

SHOREDITCH; Hoxton New Town.—At 30 Moneyer-street, on 3d January, the daughter of a canal carman, aged 3 years, “scarlatina.” Mr. Ansell, the Registrar, writes:—“The mother of this child states that herself, husband, and 3 other children had all suffered from the same disease ; that the stench from their watercloset was dreadful at times ; and the rents being low, poor people were obliged to put up with these inconveniences.” The Registrar adds :—“ I have complained repeatedly about these streets.”

WEST LONDON ; North.—At St. Bartholomew’s Hospital, on 3d January, a carman, aged 35 years, “farcy.” From Compton-passage, Clerkenwell.

ST. MARY, NEWINGTON ; St. Peter, Walworth.—On 29th December, the son of a builder’s clerk, aged 48 days, “leprosy (3 weeks).”

Last week the births of 908 boys and 879 girls, in all 1787 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number was 1546.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 30·052 in. ; the mean daily reading was above 30 in. on five days of the week ; by the end of the week the reading increased to 30·30 in. The mean temperature of the week was 45·5°, which is 9·5° above the average of the same week in 38 years. On Monday the excess of mean temperature above the average was 12·2° ; on Wednesday 10·6° ; on Saturday it was so great as 13·0°. The highest temperature occurred on Tuesday, and was 52·4°. The lowest occurred on Sunday, and was 36·5°. The mean dew-point temperature was 40·7° ; and the difference between it and the mean temperature of the air was 4·8°. The wind blew principally from the west and south-west. The rain-fall was 0·20 in.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851 ; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.

NOTE.—The letters placed against names of districts denote public institutions now within their limits, namely H for hospital; L, lunatic asylum; P, prison; W indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, though situated therein.

An average of ten weeks (1845-54) is obtained by putting the decimal point before the unit place of the sum of any district, except those districts for which the weekly numbers during the whole period of ten years are not complete. Thus the sum of deaths in ten weeks is 13126; which, divided by 10, gives nearly 1313 for the weekly average. This average is corrected for increase of population, and thus rendered comparable with the deaths of 1855, by adding to it a tenth part; thus, 1313 divided by 10 is about 131, which, added to 1313, makes the corrected average 1444. The corrected average for small-pox, or other diseases, except those marked by asterisks as having undergone changes in the classification, may be obtained in the same manner. The deaths from small-pox were 214 in 10 weeks; the average was 21; the corrected average 23. The females in London increased at the rate of 1·551 per cent. annually in the ten years, June 1831-41; 1·975 per cent. annually in the ten years, 1841-51; and 1·774 per cent. annually in the fifty years, 1801-51. The last number may be taken to express the existing rate of increase; and as the interval from the middle of the time, first week (1845-54) to the first week 1855, was 5·5 years, and  $r=1·01774$ ; so  $r^{5·5}=1·1015=1+\frac{1}{9·85}$

Let  $d$  be the average deaths in the first, second, or any week of the ten years, then  $d+\frac{d}{9·85}=d'$ , the corrected average applicable to the corresponding week in 1855. For all ordinary cases 10 may be substituted for 9·85.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 15 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which determined that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 33 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was  $48^{\circ} 7'$ ; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was  $47^{\circ} 2'$ ; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were  $46^{\circ} 4'$  and  $46^{\circ} 9'$  respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30·32 in. at the beginning of the week to 29·82 in. by noon on the 1st of January; increased to 30·12 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 4th; decreased to 30·00 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 5th; and increased to 30·30 in. by the end of the week.

GENERAL REMARKS.

SUNDAY.	The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day. Rain fell slightly during the afternoon.
MONDAY.	The sky was overcast throughout the day. Misty rain fell frequently.
TUESDAY.	The sky was overcast throughout the day. Rain fell frequently.
WEDNESDAY.	The clouds were occasionally broken during the afternoon, at other times of the day the sky was overcast.
THURSDAY.	The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with cloud throughout the day.
FRIDAY.	During the morning and afternoon a small amount of cloud prevailed; at night the sky was overcast.
SATURDAY.	The sky was overcast throughout the day.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JANUARY 13.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE population of London now suffers, as appears from the last returns, a high rate of mortality. Last week the deaths of 1466 persons (743 males and 723 females) were registered, showing an increase on the previous week in which the number was 1404. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1203, with which, after it is raised by a tenth part as an allowance for increase of population, the present return may be compared. The deaths of last week are 143 in excess of the corrected average.

Out of 300 deaths from zymotic diseases, 19 are referred to small-pox, 25 to measles, 63 to scarlatina, and 65 to whooping-cough. Influenza is on the increase, and 18 persons died of it in the week. Bronchitis is also fatal, and numbers 178 cases, which are thus distributed over different periods of life: 35 occurred under 20 years, 21 in the period 20-40, 31 in 40-60 years, 78 in the next twenty years, and 13 at 80 years of age and upwards. Pneumonia carried off 139 persons, 91 of whom were less than 20 years old; while consumption carried off 150, of whom nearly half were 20 years of age and under 40.

The annual mortality of London, except in periods of great epidemics, is at the rate of 31 in 1000 among the children and young persons under 20 years of age; 10 in 1000 among men and women of the second age (20-40); 23 in 1000 among persons of the third age (40-60); 72 in 1000 among persons of the fourth age (60-80); and 224 in 1000 among persons of the age 80 and upwards. At these rates the deaths at the five periods of life in London would be 621, 179, 197, 201, and 42; and the numbers as returned last week were 680 (in the period 0-20), 193 (20-40), 226 (40-60), 288 (60-80), and 63 (at the age of 80 and upwards). It is found as the result of comparison that the mortality is in excess at the present time, that this excess runs through all periods of life, but is chiefly remarkable at the more advanced ages. The rates of mortality, which form the standard of comparison, are derived from the whole year; but the season at which we are now arrived is usually the most fatal in the year, and as the increase of mortality is chiefly owing to this circumstance, these figures serve to show the influence of winter on the population at different ages.

LEWISHAM; Plumstead.—On 7th January, at 3 Eden-terrace, the daughter of a horse-collar maker, aged 5 years, “small-pox (4 days). Not vaccinated.”

On 11th January, at 2 Eden-terrace, the son of a master baker, aged 10 weeks, “small-pox. (Not vaccinated).”

On 5th January, at Upper Ann-street, the daughter of an assistant cooper, aged 2 years, “small-pox. (Not vaccinated).” Mr. Burnett, the Registrar, writes:—“Small-pox prevails in my district (at least in part of it) to a greater extent than I have ever known before. The present Vaccination Act is a failure. Even after explanation and remonstrance, in many cases uneducated persons declare they will not comply with its provisions. They are sure (they say), that vaccination is often the means of introducing some bad humour into the system, worse than small-pox itself. Some medical men also disregard the Act, not transmitting certificates of successful vaccination.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Paupers, prisoners, and other inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.
NOTE.—The letters placed against names of districts denote public institutions now within their limits, namely H for hospital; L, lunatic asylum; P, prison; W indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, though situated therein.
The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein; thus, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Old Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and the West London North sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

The sky was overcast throughout the day.

The sky was overcast throughout the day.

The clouds were slightly broken during the morning, otherwise the sky was overcast throughout the day. Thick rain fell generally throughout the evening.

The sky was occasionally free from cloud during the evening, at other times of the day it was overcast. Fog was generally prevalent, and at times it was very dense.

The sky was occasionally clear during the evening. Thick fog prevailed generally at other times of the day.

The sky was overcast throughout the day. Thick fog prevailed during the morning and afternoon, and at night rain fell at intervals.

The sky at night was partially clear, also occasionally during the morning, otherwise it was overcast throughout the day. Rain fell slightly at 10h. A.M.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering thermom. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken. The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 40°·7; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 39°·2; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 37°·5 and 37°·4 respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30°·39 in. at the beginning of the week to 30°·26 in. by noon on the 9th; increased to 30°·44 in. by noon on the 10th; decreased to 30°·39 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 11th; increased to 30°·48 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 12th; and decreased to 30°·35 in. by the end of the week.

ERRATA in last Report for Week ending January 6:—
Columns 7, 8, and 13.
Opposite Tuesday, for 44°·6, 41°·8, and 25°·8 read 47°·6, 45°·0, and 20°·6 respectively.
" Means, for 45°·5, 40°·7, and 4°·9 read 46°·0, 41°·1, and 4°·8 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE coldness of the weather has severely affected the public health,—a fact which, though it is generally known by the prevalence of colds and influenza in families, is remarkably confirmed by the returns of mortality. The deaths were 1404 and 1466 in the first two weeks of this month; in the week that ended last Saturday they rose to 1549, of which 763 were deaths of males, and 786 of females. The births last week were 1514, leaving an excess on the part of deaths which is not usual, except in seasons of epidemics.

In ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number of deaths was 1158, which, if corrected for increase of population up to last week, becomes 1274. The present return exhibits an excess of 275 deaths on the estimated amount. Last week was the third in the year: taking the average temperature in 79 years it has been found that the third week is the coldest of the fifty-two. And it will be seen that the mean temperature of last week as recorded in the Greenwich Table of Observations was  $28\cdot9^{\circ}$ , less by  $7\cdot3^{\circ}$  than the average of the same week in 38 years, and it was also less than in any of the corresponding weeks of the ten years 1845–54. In the week that ended 6th January the mean temperature was  $45\cdot5^{\circ}$ ; in the subsequent week  $39\cdot3^{\circ}$ ; and last week it declined to a point lower by  $10\cdot4^{\circ}$ .

The annual mortality of London, except in periods of great epidemics, is at the rate of 31 in 1000 among the children and young persons under 20 years of age; 10 in 1000 among men and women of the second age (20–40); 23 in 1000 among persons of the third age (40–60); 72 in 1000 among persons of the fourth age (60–80); and 224 in 1000 among persons of the age 80 and upwards. At these rates the deaths at the five periods of life in London would be 621, 179, 197, 201, and 42; and the numbers as returned last week were 720, 234, 224, 295, and 75. These results discover an excess in the deaths as now returned in each of the five periods of life, but to the greatest extent in the more advanced periods. That part of the population which is now living in the third stage of existence (viz., between 40 and 60 years,) suffered least of all from the rigour of winter; and it deserves to be remarked that in comparing the numbers of the last two weeks the deaths at that period have remained almost the same, while at all other ages, but especially amongst the very old, they have increased. The deaths between 40 and 60 years in the last two weeks were respectively 226 and 224.

This return gives 386 deaths as caused by diseases of the organs of respiration, whilst the corrected average of the same week in ten years is only 273. In addition to these there were 177 from phthisis, 69 from hooping-cough, and 22 from influenza. Of the 386 there are 217 referred to bronchitis, 125 to pneumonia, the rest to asthma and other less fatal diseases. In the epidemic class, which numbers 361, small-pox was fatal in 24 cases, 8 of which occurred in the sub-district of Islington West, where the Small-pox Hospital is situated, and 3 in the sub-district of Greenwich East; measles was fatal in 31, scarlatina in 80 cases. Six of the deaths from this last disease occurred in Islington East, where it is stated to prevail "in its worst form," and where the Registrar mentions one family in which five children are ill.

Last week the births of 779 boys and 735 girls, in all 1514 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1476.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 30·011 in. ; the mean daily reading was above 30 in. on Sunday, Monday, and Wednesday. The highest reading occurred at the beginning of the week, and was 30·38 in. The mean temperature of the week was 28·9°, which is 7·3° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature was below the average on every day of the week, and on Friday the amount of depression was so great as 15·4°; on Wednesday 9·9°; on Thursday 8·3°. The highest temperature of the week was 40·2° on Tuesday; the highest temperature on Friday, the coldest day, was only 28·2°, and the lowest temperature of the week occurred on that day, and was 16·2°. The mean dew-point temperature was 25·9°; and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 3·0°. The temperature of the Thames was 41·7°. The wind blew generally from the north-east. The amount of rain was 0·19 in., most of which fell on Tuesday.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Paupers, prisoners, and other inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851 ; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.
NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein; thus, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Old Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and the West London North sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. On the 18th and 19th the thermometer on grass was covered with snow, and the readings were higher than the minima of the dry thermometer. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken. During the last four days of the week the vane was fixed by frost.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 30.2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 29.2°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 27.0° and 26.6° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30.38 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.89 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 16th; increased to 30.03 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 17th; decreased to 29.87 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 18th; increased to 29.91 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 19th; and decreased to 29.66 in. by the end of the week.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .	Positive, with moderate tension at each observation.	The sky was generally covered with cloud during the morning and afternoon, and at night it was clear. Thin fog prevailed during the morning.
MONDAY .	Positive, with strong tension; frequent volleys of sparks were shown.	The sky was for the most part covered with cloud throughout the day. A little snow fell near noon.
TUESDAY .	Positive, and very active throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day. Snow fell early in the morning, and also during the evening; rain also fell frequently at other times.
WEDNESDAY	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	The amount of cloud was variable, at times the sky was overcast. Snow fell frequently and heavily to the depth of 1.3 in.
THURSDAY .	Positive and active during the morning and afternoon; at night negative and weak.	Three fourths of the sky were generally covered with cloud during the morning and afternoon, and it was overcast afterwards. Snow fell heavily at night to the depth of 1.6 in.
FRIDAY .	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	The sky was generally clear during the earlier portion of the morning, also at night, at other times of the day about three fourths were covered with cloud.
SATURDAY .	Nothing was shown at any examination.	The sky was overcast throughout the day.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JANUARY 27.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE present Return shows that the high mortality announced in recent reports has undergone a further increase. In the first three weeks of the current month the deaths registered in London were 1404, 1466, and 1549; in the last week they rose to 1630. Of males whose deaths are now returned the number is 791; of females 839. In the four weeks that ended January 27th the mean weekly temperature was  $45^{\circ}5'$ ,  $39^{\circ}3'$ ,  $28^{\circ}9'$ , and (last week)  $29^{\circ}3'$ .

In the corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number of deaths was 1102, which if raised in proportion to increase of population becomes 1212. Hence it appears that there were recorded last week 418 deaths more than the rate of mortality that prevailed in the fourth week of the last ten years would have produced. The mean temperature of the corresponding weeks of 1845–54 was  $39^{\circ}5'$ . Last week it was considerably lower than in any of those weeks, except that of 1848, when it was  $29^{\circ}1'$ .

Seven hundred and eleven persons under 20 years of age, 205 at that age and under 40, 289 aged 40 years and under 60, 347 who were 60 years old but under 80, and 77 octogenarians, died last week. If these numbers are compared with the numbers at the same ages in the previous week, it will be seen that the increase is confined entirely to persons who had completed their fortieth year, the deaths of those in the earlier periods showing a decrease. Deaths arising from diseases of the organs of respiration increased from 386 to 427 in the last two weeks; the average of the ten weeks corresponding to last week is only 264. Bronchitis was fatal in 239 cases, pneumonia in 127. Hooping-cough and influenza, which stand in the epidemic class, were fatal in 73 and 23 cases; 174 persons sunk under phthisis. Scarlatina destroyed 75 lives, measles 43. This last complaint rages in Norwood Workhouse, where 6 children died of it last week. A travelling newsman, who had lived in Church-lane, St. Giles, died in University College Hospital on the 22d instant, at the age of 56 years of "bronchitis and congestion of liver and kidneys, from cold and want of food." A boy, aged 3 years, died in the same hospital of "stone in the bladder and phimosis; lithotomy (6 weeks), perineal fistula, diarrhoea."

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. GEORGE, EAST; St John.—On 21st and 22d January, at 5 Lower well-alley, the sons of a coalwhipper, aged respectively 5 years and 3 months, "pertussis." The medical attendant states, that "the house is in a most filthy state, and utterly unfit for habitation. The owner has more than once been compelled to put it in order, but through negligence and inattention it soon lapsed into its usual disgraceful state."

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Prisoners, and other inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.

The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein; thus, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Old Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and the West London North sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The sky was partially covered with cloud during the later portion of the morning and the afternoon; at other times of the day it was overcast. Snow fell during the earlier portion of the morning.

The clouds were slightly broken during the evening; at other times of the day the sky was overcast. Snow fell during the morning; the crystals were very numerous, and chiefly arborescent.

The sky was overcast throughout the day. Snow fell from 7h. A.M. till noon to the depth of one inch.

Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud during the earlier portion of the morning, and it was overcast afterwards.

The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day.

The sky was generally overcast throughout the day. Thick fog prevailed between 10h. A.M. and noon.

The sky was partially covered with cloud during the morning; at other times of the day it was clear. Fog was prevalent during the morning.

ELECTRICITY.

Positive, with variable tension generally throughout the week.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. On the 21st and 22d the thermometer on grass was covered with snow. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken. The anemometer has been under repair during the week.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 32.2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 32.5°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 29.1° and 29.9° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.78 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.71 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 22d; increased to 29.96 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 25th; decreased to 29.81 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 26th; and increased to 29.90 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 3.

[No. 5.]

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE mortality of London is still excessive, and the number of deaths as now returned, exhibits but a small decrease on that of the previous week. In the last five weeks the deaths were:—1404, 1466, 1549, 1630, and 1604. The mean temperature in each of the same weeks was,  $45.5^{\circ}$ ,  $39.3^{\circ}$ ,  $28.9^{\circ}$ ,  $29.3^{\circ}$ , and  $29.3^{\circ}$ . Throughout December the temperature was about  $41^{\circ}$ ; and the deaths in a week were about 1300. The weather became colder by  $12^{\circ}$ , and produced an increase of 300 in the deaths.

In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number of deaths was 1103, which may be compared with last week's return, after raising the former by a tenth part for increase of population. It appears that 391 persons died last week above the calculated amount. Taking the fifth week of each of the ten years, the average temperature was  $40.9^{\circ}$ ; and there is no instance within this range of comparison in which the mean temperature was so low as that of last week.

Of the total number of persons who died, 803 were males and 801 females. There died under 20 years of age 718; at 20 years and under 40, 207; in the next period (40–60) 255; in the fourth (60–80) 300, and from amongst the living who have attained the age of 80 years or upwards, 74 sunk under their infirmities. In this class were two centenarians. The numbers of very old persons who have died in the last three weeks, viz. those who were 80 years old or more, discover a remarkable uniformity; they were 75, 77, and 74. The same observation holds with regard to the young (under 20 years), the numbers of these in the same weeks having been 720, 711, and 718. According to the rate of mortality that prevailed in 1838–44 (without distinction of seasons), the deaths of persons between 60 and 80 years would be 201, the actual number was 300; of octogenarians the number would be 42, whilst the true number as stated above was 74.

The deaths caused by diseases of the respiratory organs are 419, nearly the same as in the previous week. Bronchitis was fatal in 226 cases, pneumonia in 139. In the epidemic class 35 cases are referred to small-pox, 26 to measles, 64 to scarlatina, 66 to whooping-cough, 15 to croup, and 7 to influenza. Nine deaths from small-pox were registered in Islington West, 7 of which occurred in the Small-pox Hospital.

ST. GEORGE IN-THE-EAST; St. John.—On 25th January, on board the ship Taymouth Castle, in the London Docks, a Malay mariner, aged 30 years, “natural death, accelerated by exposure to cold.” Inquest.

On 24th January, on board the ship Velocity in the London Docks, a Malay mariner, aged 16 years, “natural death, accelerated by exposure to cold.” Inquest.

POPLAR ; Poplar.—On 29th January, on board the ship Mount Stewart Elphinstone, lying in the East India Import Dock, a lascar seaman, aged 40 years, "exposure."

On 3d February, on board the ship "Limehouse," lying in the East India Export Docks, a lascar seaman, aged 32 years, "pneumonia (3 days), and exposure to cold."

STEPNEY ; Ratcliff.—At 117 Cock-hill, on 2d February, a mariner, aged 45 years, "collapse from exposure to cold."

STEPNEY ; Mile End Old Town Lower.—At Portuguese Jews Hospital, on 1st February, a widow of a butcher's assistant, aged 105 years, "old age." Mr. Castleden adds:—"The deceased has been a widow 55 years, and has a son living 70 years of age. She has been an inmate of the hospital for years, and has persisted in asserting her great age. She took to her bed on the 27th January; she retained her faculties unimpaired to the last (except eyesight, having been blind for the last 2 years.)"

BETHNAL GREEN ; Town.—At 7 Wood's-close, on 2d February, the wife of a silk manufacturer, aged 100 years, "old age."

NEWINGTON ; Trinity.—At 2 Brunswick-street, on 28th January, a gentleman, aged 59 years, "Asiatic cholera (36 hours)."

Last week the births of 845 boys and 803 girls, in all 1648 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1489.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·619 in. The highest reading was 29·92 in. on the morning of Friday. The mean temperature of the week was 29·3°, which is the same as in the previous week, and less by 8·3° than the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature was below the average by about 7° on the first three days; about 10° below it on Wednesday and Thursday; 11·7° below it on Friday; and 5° below it on Saturday. The highest temperature in the week occurred on Saturday, and was 39·6°; the lowest, was 22·2°, and occurred on Friday. The mean dew-point temperature was 26·6°; and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was 2·7°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 36·4°. The wind blew generally from the north-east till Saturday, when it changed to east and south-east.

NOTE. The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Paupers, prisoners, and other inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

The returns from two sub-districts—Camden Town and Islington East—were not received in time for insertion in the Tables. These returns, it is now ascertained, contained the deaths of 10 males above 20 years of age.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the dock.

+ Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.
NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete.

The numbers on the left of the semicolons refer to the Districts on the preceding page.

The several numbers for this sub-district cannot be given, as the return has not been received.

This sub-district contains both the small-pox and fever hospitals.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein; s, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and West London North sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. On January 31 and February 1 the thermometer on grass was covered with snow. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Saunders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken. The anemometer was returned on January 27; the vane has been fixed by the frost throughout the week.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 30.7°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 31.3°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 28.6° and 29.5° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.84 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.54 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 29th; increased to 29.64 in. by noon on the 30th; decreased to 29.30 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 31st; increased to 29.92 in. by 9h. A.M. on February 2d; and decreased to 29.36 in. by the end of the week.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The sky was overcast throughout the day. Snow fell occasionally during the morning. A fine day.

The clouds were broken during the afternoon, at other times of the day the sky was overcast. Fog was prevalent during the morning. Snow fell near noon in crystals.

The sky was overcast throughout the day. Snow fell during the morning and afternoon; crystals of snow abundant.

The sky was overcast throughout the day. A heavy snow-storm commenced at noon, accompanied by violent wind; crystals ill defined, and not abundant.

The clouds were broken during the morning, at other times of the day the sky was overcast. Snow fell during the earlier portion of the morning. A fine day.

The sky was frequently three fourths covered with cloud during the earlier portion of the morning, and it was overcast at other times of the day. An inclement day.

The sky was overcast throughout the day, the temperature reached 32° a little after noon, and a thaw set in; a little rain fell at 3h. P.M., the temperature increased to 39° by 9h. P.M., and to 39° 6, the maximum for the day, and the highest reading since January 16. At night large portions of the sky were clear, and the temperature fell to 32°. A dull day.

ELECTRICITY.

Positive, with variable tension generally throughout the week.

On Sunday sparks were shown in the evening, and on Monday morning sparks and galvanic currents were shown, with strong negative electricity.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE cold of winter, more severe than usual, continues to produce its natural effect in a high rate of mortality, though the number of deaths registered last week in London is rather less than those of two previous weeks. The deaths, which in the third week of January were 1549, and in the two subsequent weeks rose to 1630 and 1604, fell last week to 1546. According to the Greenwich Table of Meteorology, the mean temperature, which was about  $42^{\circ}$  in the first fortnight of the year, was in the last four weeks only  $28.9^{\circ}$ ,  $29.3^{\circ}$ ,  $29.3^{\circ}$ , and  $30.9^{\circ}$ .

The present Return is for the sixth week of the year. Taking the deaths of the same week in each of the years 1845–54, it is found that they averaged 1104, with which, after a correction for increase of population, the 1546 deaths of last week may be compared. The result is that the weather has been fatal in a week to 332 lives more than would have been extinguished in an ordinary season. The average temperature of the ten corresponding weeks was  $41.2^{\circ}$ , which exceeds the temperature of last week by  $10.3^{\circ}$ .

A comparison of the numbers who died at different ages in the last two weeks shows that the decrease noticed above is confined entirely to the young; for in the period extending from 20 to 60 years of age the number suffered no change, while of persons in still more advanced life the deaths increased from 374 to 417. In this last number are 95 deaths of men and women, on whose heads had gathered four score winters, or more.

Diseases of the organs of respiration were fatal in 424 cases, whilst the corrected average for corresponding weeks is only 245. Bronchitis is specified as the mortal disease in 235 out of the 424 cases, and is at present fatal to considerably more than twice its usual amount; pneumonia numbers 126, the average being 97. 158 persons died of consumption, a malady which is not caused, and shows less liability to be accelerated, by extreme cold. 90 children died of hooping-cough; 13 persons of influenza.

POPLAR; Poplar.—At Cross-street, Wade-street, on 3d February, the son of a blacksmith, aged 4 years, “exposure to cold, croup (24 hours).”

LAMBETH; Lambeth Church 2d Part.—At the Workhouse, on 2d February, a man, formerly a compositor, aged 65 years, “frost bite, gangrene.”

WANDSWORTH; Putney.—At Roehampton, on 5th February, the widow of a journeyman butcher, aged 81 years, “chronic bronchitis (several years), congestion of the brain from effects of cold (12 hours).”

At 19 Gay-street, on 31st January, a journeyman painter, aged 70 years, “congestion of the lungs from exposure to cold (48 hours).”

HOLBORN; St. George the Martyr.—At 5 Castle-court, on 6th February, the son of a journeyman tailor, aged 6 months, “confluent small-pox (14 days).” Mr. Goodhugh, the Registrar, observes :— “The birth of this child was registered and the vaccination notice was given and explained to the mother, but she neglected to have it vaccinated. The child is supposed to have caught the disease from two men suffering from small-pox in the same house. I think if the Registrars were to furnish a weekly list of the names and residences of parents of children registered to the public district vaccinator, a greater number of children of the lower classes would be vaccinated, as the surgeon would call on the parents, and see that the operation was performed.”

SHOREDITCH; St. Leonard's.—At the Lunatic Asylum, Hoxton House, on 27th January, a woman, formerly a domestic servant, aged 103 years, “mania (12 years) and old age.” Admitted into the Lunatic Asylum, 15th August 1843.

Last week the births of 934 boys, and 898 girls, in all 1832 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number was 1541.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·511 in. The reading on Wednesday and Friday rose to 29·77 in. and 29·79 in. The mean temperature of the week was 30·9°, which is 7·3° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature was below the average on every day of the week, and the extent of depression was 10·4° on Friday, and so much as 15·4° on Saturday. The highest temperature of the week occurred on Monday, and was 40·4°; the lowest was 17·4°, and occurred on Saturday, on which day the highest was 33°. The mean dew-point temperature was 29·7°, and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was 1·2°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 35·1°. The wind blew generally from the north-east; and the amount of rain was 0·73 in.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Paupers, prisoners, and other inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and † Seamen and others on board vessels in the dock.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.
NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years; and the averages of North Districts (7-11) and South Districts (26-36) are corrected on the principle described in the Note appended to the Table of Diseases.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein; thus, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Old Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and the Hackney sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

* The numbers on the left of the semicolons refer to the Districts on the preceding page.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the week that ended on Saturday the deaths of 1475 persons, namely 741 males and 734 females, were registered in London. The mortality which, since the cold weather set in, was highest in the last week of January, has in the subsequent weeks exhibited a decrease, but it is still much above the ordinary amount. The numbers in the last five weeks have run thus:—1549, 1630, 1604, 1546, and 1475. The mean temperature in the same periods has been,  $28\cdot9^{\circ}$ ,  $29\cdot3^{\circ}$ ,  $29\cdot3^{\circ}$ ,  $30\cdot9^{\circ}$ , and (last week)  $25\cdot4^{\circ}$ .

In the ten corresponding weeks of 1845–54 the average number of deaths was 1086, and if this is raised in proportion to increase of population it becomes 1195. The result of the comparison is, that there died last week, in addition to what is usual in the middle of February, 280 persons, whose lives have been shortened by the sharp and long-continued frost. The average temperature of the ten corresponding weeks was  $36\cdot5^{\circ}$ ; the temperature of last week is no less than  $11\cdot1^{\circ}$  below that value, and it is also below the temperature of any week in the series, in which the coldest weeks were those of 1845 and 1847, when the mean temperatures were  $29^{\circ}$  and  $26^{\circ}$ .

The deaths registered last week are distributed over five periods of life, as follows: 658 occurred under 20 years of age; 198 at 20 and under 40 years; 255 at 40 years and under 60; 302 at 60 and under 80 years; 62 at 80 years and upwards. It will be seen, on reference to the Table of Fatal Diseases, that while upwards of 100 persons died in the first, third, and fourth vicenniads of life from diseases of the respiratory organs, only 33 deaths occurred amongst young men and women between 20 and 40 years of age, that period which is best qualified to resist the inclemency of winter. Bronchitis was fatal in 218 cases, pneumonia in 114, asthma in 42, phthisis in 159, hooping-cough in 77, and influenza in 10 cases. Small-pox carried off 29 children and 4 adults. This disease seems to prevail much in Plumstead, where 4 deaths occurred from it.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

POPLAR; Poplar.—At 41 Wade-street, on 2d February, a Chelsea pensioner, aged 108 years, “natural decay.” The Registrar appends the following note to the return of this death:—“This person entered the army at the age of 16 or 20 years, was at the battle of Bunkers-hill, and with General Abercrombie in Egypt. He was 36 years in the employment of the West India Dock Company. The last 15 years he occasionally preached at various chapels in the country, and in July last he preached in a chapel at Wellow near Ollerton, Notts. Two days previous to his death, when asked what was his age, he said, “If I live until the 2d February I shall be 108 years.” [The age of this person is undergoing investigation, and the results will be inserted in a subsequent number of the Tables.]

CAMBERWELL; Peckham.—At 6 Smith’s-buildings, on 16th February, a field labourer, aged 37 years, “bronchitis, accelerated by cold weather, and being out of work.”

KENSINGTON; St. Mary, Paddington.—At 25 Blomfield-road, on 9th February, a porter, aged 44 years, “debility from cold and insufficient nourishment, phthisis.”

ST. PANCRAS; Camden Town.—At Little King-street, on 21st January, a man aged 36 years, found dead, “effects of cold and intoxication.”

GREENWICH; East.—At the Workhouse, on 10th February, a shipwright, aged 63 years, “elephantiasis, phthisis.”

ST. PANCRAS; Somers Town.—At 19 Charles-street, on 11th February, a coach-maker, aged 52 years, “ painter’s colic (16 days).”

Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar of Islington East, writes as follows:—“ A death from scarlatina occurred at No. 7 Victoria-place. I am requested to call attention to the state of the drains, which are very offensive ; but no remedy seems attainable through the landlord, whose collector has been applied to several times. I am convinced that we should hear many more complaints, but lodgings are so scarce, that with a certain class of tenants it is impolitic to make them, as they are immediately told that they may leave. Every improvement in London increases this evil. It is very true that street after street is erected in the suburbs, where ground-rent is cheaper ; but there are certain classes of labourers who must live near their work, and for this purpose they are compelled to put up with anything. I hope to see in the new street leading from Holborn-bridge to Clerkenwell houses of six and seven stories in height erected expressly for working men, a speculation which could not fail of success.”

Last week the births of 903 boys and 912 girls, in all 1815 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number was 1461.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·518 in. The reading of the barometer increased to 29·85 by 9 h. A.M. on Friday, and after decreasing, rose to nearly the same value by the end of the week. The mean temperature was 25·4°, which is 13·3° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature was 12·7° below the average on Sunday, and on the following days the extent of depression was as follows : 9·4° on Monday, 13·2° on Tuesday, 14·2° on Wednesday, 12·3° on Thursday, 14·4° on Friday, and 17·2° on Saturday. The highest temperature in the week occurred on Sunday, and was 36·5° ; the lowest on Wednesday, and was 13·8°. The highest on Wednesday was 34°. Early on the morning of Sunday the 11th, the temperature was so low as 7° in the neighbourhood of Greenwich. The mean dew-point temperature was 21·8° ; and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was 3·6°. The mean temperature of the water of the Thames was 34° for the first five days ; afterwards the instruments could not be raised on account of thick ice. The wind blew from the north, except on Friday.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Paupers, prisoners, and other inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment in the SEVENTH Week of each of the following Years.

multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1, and deducted from the total of class 10. Corresponding deductions are made from the totals of the particular diseases childbirth and rheumatism. In the lines partly formed by asterisks the averages are derived not from the deaths of 10 years but those of 7 years.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851 ; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.
NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein: thus, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Old Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and the West London North sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The sky was generally free from cloud. A fine day. The temperature early in the morning of this day was as low as 7° in the neighbourhood.

A very fine day, the sky was cloudless till 6h. p.m., and at night the amount of cloud was variable.

The sky was generally covered with cloud throughout the day, occasional sunshine; light snow falling at intervals.

Three fourths of the sky were generally covered with cloud during the morning and afternoon, at night the amount of cloud was variable. Some snow fell at 11h. a.m. A fine day.

The sky was clear during the morning and afternoon, at night clouds were frequently prevalent. Light snow fell between 5h. and 6h. p.m. A fine day.

The sky was for the most part clear during the morning, three fourths were covered during the afternoon, and it was generally overcast at night. Light snow fell frequently.

The sky was at times one half and at others three fourths covered with cloud till evening, after which time the sky was clear.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; 9h. p.m. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering thermos, suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent); from Thursday, February 15, the instruments could not be raised, on account of the presence of thick ice. Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. a.m. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 27.3°; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 26.2°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 25.1° and 23.3° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.67 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.21 in. by noon on the 14th; increased to 29.85 in. by 9h. a.m. on the 16th; decreased to 29.71 in. by 9h. p.m. on the same day; and increased to 29.82 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 24.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE intense cold showed slight signs of mitigation until the end of last week, and the deaths were 1604. Zymotic diseases were fatal to 294 persons; namely 31 who died of small-pox, 30 of measles, chiefly in the East and South districts, 47 of scarlatina, and which as well as hooping-cough (82) prevails chiefly in the North districts. Typhus was fatal in 36 cases, childbirth in 10, consumption in 204, bronchitis, pneumonia, and asthma in 404 cases, which exceed the corrected average of corresponding weeks by 156.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·779 in. The mean temperature of the air was 26·7°, which is 12·7° below the average; the highest point 41·2° was attained on Saturday, the lowest (11·1°) on Monday morning, when the moon was in the equator. In the sun a thermometer rose to 58°. The dryness was 4·8°; the dew-point was 21·9°. The wind was calm, and travelled at the rate of 330 miles over Greenwich. Electricity was positive and active; snow fell on one day, and a thaw set in on Saturday.

The season of extreme cold has now, we may hope, passed over, and its effects have been seen in the Tables of the last six weeks, when the deaths of 9408 persons have been registered. These deaths exceed the average by 1968; which appear under various diseases, and were the indirect results of the low temperature.

The temperature of the six weeks was 28·4° on an average, and the deaths were nearly 100 weekly to every degree of depression below the freezing point of water.

But the cold affected persons very differently, according to their age; for in the five weeks that ended on February 17th, at the first age of manhood (20 to 40) the cold did not destroy 2 in 10,000, at the age of 60 to 80 it was fatal to 38 in 10,000. At the soldier's age, with the shelter that London affords, the mortality from cold is inconsiderable.

If the average deaths at each of the five ages are subtracted from the deaths in the five weeks of cold weather, the numbers that are left representing the deaths by cold are 367 children and youths under 20; 159 young men and women of 20-40; 290 middle aged persons of 40-60; 561 of 60-80; and 173 of 80 and upwards. Upon dividing these numbers by the persons living of the corresponding ages, we find that the mortality by cold in the 100,000 was at the rate of 35 under the age of 20, and 18, 64, 382, and 1749 at the four subsequent ages.

The temperature of the blood is about 98°, at which it is sustained with some slight variations even when the body is immersed in an atmosphere of 29°, or of a still lower temperature. But the heat that is lost by the lungs and the skin is so great, that it is not supplied with sufficient rapidity in the young and the old; who, to use a common expression, do not "stand the cold," so well as men in the prime of early manhood. The above numbers show that the power of cold on life varies according to definite laws: thus the mortality by cold is (35) twice as great under the age of 20 as the mortality (18) at 20-40; but after that turning point the power of resisting cold decreases every year, and men of 90 and men of 30 have suffered from the cold that we have experienced in the proportion of 100 to 1 (or of 1749 to 17·5).

And the general result is that the danger after 30 of dying of cold is doubled every nine years of age; for out of the same numbers living to 1 death by cold at the age of 30, there are 2 at 39; 4 at the age of 48; 8 at the age of 57; 16 at the age of 66; 32 at the age of 75; and 64 at the age of 84. This series at least expresses very nearly the relative mortality by cold at the respective ages during five weeks among two and a half millions of people.

Exercise, ample supplies of food and clothing, and artificial external warmth mitigate the effects of cold in London, and by sustaining the temperature of their sleeping rooms the danger of the aged is much diminished.

Cold is less fatal than dirt in the air and water of London, through which the cholera, dysentery, and other matters that induce zymotic diseases are diffused: thus while intense cold killed 1604 persons in the five weeks preceding the last, cholera destroyed 7222 in five weeks of last year; and while cold killed 159 men and women of the age 20–40, cholera killed 1909 at the corresponding age.

In all the religions of antiquity, before science had demonstrated the truth, that dirt is the cause of innumerable diseases, men had been taught by their great lawgivers to regard personal uncleanness as something defiling and unholy; yet it is only recently that the artizans, and even the middle class of London, have in parts been supplied with baths, and with the means of washing linen easily and at little cost. The last return of “the Committee for promoting the establishment of baths and washhouses for the labouring classes” shows that there are thirteen baths and washhouses in London; at which 1,220,739 baths were administered for 17,062*l.*, and 421,101 washings of the linen of about 1,684,404 persons were performed for 6,096*l.*

Kensington, Chelsea, Hampstead, Islington, Hackney, the Strand, Holborn, Clerkenwell, St. Luke, Shoreditch, Bethnal Green, St. George-in-the-East, Stepney, St. Saviour, St. Olave, and St. George Southwark, Newington, Wandsworth, Camberwell, Rotherhithe, and Lewisham are still without public baths and washhouses. The City of London, which spreads its hospitable tables to the rich, has hitherto left its poor citizens unprovided with baths and washhouses.

Last week the births of 916 boys, and 874 girls, in all 1790 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number was 1509.

LEWISHAM; Plumstead.—At the Common, on 19th February, the son of a groom, aged 7 years, “variola confluens.” Mr. Burnett, the Registrar, writes:—“This makes the fourth child out of five lost by the same complaint within one week. It seems difficult to account for its virulency. Three of the children, according to the father’s statement, had been successfully vaccinated, but there is no medical evidence of this fact. The disease without doubt was brought into the family by the father, who caught it somewhere, but had a very mild attack. It was during the period of his recovery that the children were seized. The cottage is an isolated one, quite removed from the infected district mentioned by me a short time ago.”

MARYLEBONE; All Souls.—At 110 Great Portland-street, on 17th February, widow of a domestic servant in the royal household, aged 101 years, “catarrhus senilis.”

* The return of deaths for the South-west sub-district of the City of London was not received in time for insertion in the Tables. An average of 4, derived from the returns of six previous weeks, was inserted instead; and in the Table of Diseases it is placed to Causes not specified. The true number is now found to be 1, the same as the average.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Paupers, prisoners, and other inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

† Seamen and-others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein: thus, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Old Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and the Hackney sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The sky was partially covered with cloud during the morning, at other times of the day it was clear. A fine day. The lowest temperature took place at midnight.

The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with thin clouds throughout the day. A fine day.

Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud during the earlier portion of the morning, and it was clear afterwards. A very fine day.

The clouds were broken near noon, otherwise the sky was overcast throughout the day. Snow fell during the evening.

Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud throughout the day. For a short time the temperature exceeded 32°.

The sky was overcast throughout the day. Snow fell from 7h. 30m. A.M. to 11h. A.M. Many snow crystals. Temperature exceeded 32° from 10h. A.M. till 3h. P.M.

The morning was gloomy and dull till 11h. A.M., the sun then shone brightly; the sky was overcast at 5h. P.M., and rain fell at night to the depth of 0.1 in. At 10h. A.M. the temperature reached 32°, and after this a rapid thaw set in.

ELECTRICITY.

Positive, and tension strong at each examination.

Negative, and very active during the morning; positive, and strong at other times of the day. Sparks were shown.

Positive, and tension strong.

Positive, and tension strong; sparks were shown.

Positive, and very strong; sparks were shown during the morning.

Positive, and very active; frequent sparks were shown.

Positive, and tension variable.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermometer with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read; the instrument for lowest readings was out of order on February 18 and 19. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Drighlington Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent); during this week both the thermometers were broken by the ice. Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 28.2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 29.5°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 25.8° and 27.1° respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.82 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.92 in. by 11h. A.M. on the 18th; decreased to 29.57 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 20th; increased to 29.86 in. by noon on the 22d; decreased to 29.76 in. by noon on the 23d; increased to 29.90 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 24th; decreased to 29.75 in. by 3h. P.M. on the same day; after this time the decrease was rapid, amounting to 0.5 in. during the night.

LONDON:

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MARCH 3.

[No. 9.]

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE winter's cold has passed away, but its effects still appear in the registers, on which during the week that ended on Saturday last the deaths of fifteen hundred and sixty persons are inscribed.

The deaths in the last seven weeks have been 10968, and have thus exceeded the weekly averages of the year round by 2288.

If we revert to the six cold weeks, when the mean temperature was  $28^{\circ}4'$ , the varying influence of cold on life at different ages becomes more apparent than it was in the calculation that was based on five weeks. Thus, after deducting the average deaths at each age, an excess remains referable to the extreme cold in the numbers of 419 under the age of 20, of 200 at the age 20-40, of 392 at the age 40-60, of 752 at the age 60-80, and of 205 at the age of 80 and upwards.

The cholera in six weeks of 1854 was four times as fatal as the cold in 1855, and although its fatality increased as age advanced, it followed a different law: thus in 10,000 living at the age of 20-40, the epidemic cholera was fatal to 24, the cold to 2; in 10,000 persons of the age 40-60 cholera was fatal to 39, cold to 9; at the age 60-80 the proportions to the same number (10,000) living were cholera 64, cold 51; at the last age (80-100), the proportions changed to cholera 90, cold 207.

Thus as age increases the system rapidly loses the power of producing internal heat; and the resulting fatality by the reduction of temperature is doubled every nine years after the age of 20 to 40.

In what way is cold fatal? The returns show that in London its effects are concentrated on the lungs, which exhibit the various forms of congestion of blood in their texture, from pneumonia and bronchitis to pulmonary apoplexy.

The average deaths from pneumonia, bronchitis, and asthma in six weeks are 951; the deaths from these causes rose to 2349 in the six cold weeks. Influenza, hooping-cough, croup, and a few other diseases of the zymotic class, mortification, cancer, scrofula, apoplexy, paralysis, epilepsy, heart disease, terminated fatally in proportions above the average; so did consumption, but to a slight extent only.

The cold, therefore, brings quickly to a fatal end many chronic diseases which it does not induce.

The moon was at the full on Saturday (3d March); the barometer was low ( $29\cdot358$  in. mean of the week); the mean temperature of the air was  $40^{\circ}8'$ , or nearly  $1^{\circ}$  above the average,  $9^{\circ}$  above the freezing point of water, and  $14^{\circ}$  above the mean temperature of the previous week; the dryness or the excess of temperature above the dew-point was  $2\cdot1^{\circ}$ ; the wind was S.W., and travelled at a daily rate rising from 50 miles on Tuesday to 255 miles on Saturday. The sky was often overcast, and eight tenths of an inch of rain fell in the seven days; electricity was active and positive.

Last week the births of 838 boys and 888 girls, in all 1726 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1551.

ST. MARTIN-IN-THE-FIELDS; Charing Cross.—At 5 Lumley-court, on 24th February, the daughter of a carman, aged one year, “ pneumonia (7 days).”

In the same family, on 28th February, the son of a carman, aged 4 years, “ pertussis (2 weeks), convulsions (2 days).” Mr. Leonard, the Registrar, adds :—“ The house is modern, and let out to families. There are no windows at the back, and the front windows open into a very narrow court. Ventilation is therefore imperfect, and I have attended more than an average amount of illness in it since it was erected.”

ISLINGTON; West.—The resident surgeon of the Small-pox Hospital states that :—“ Small-pox is prevailing in London to a great extent. The Small-pox Hospital is nearly full of patients. With only one exception, more patients were admitted in 1854 than in any previous year.” “ In the London Fever Hospital (says the Registrar), there has been a considerable decrease this year in the number of patients admitted; and at the present time there is only half the usual number under treatment, including convalescents.”

* In consequence of the death of the Registrar of All Souls the return of births has not been received from that sub-district. An average of 12, derived from the returns of six previous weeks, is inserted instead of the true number.
† The returns of deaths from All Souls and Artillery are not included in the above Tables. Averages of 18 for the former and 4 for the latter, derived from six previous weeks, are inserted in place of the true numbers, and in the Table of Diseases are placed to Causes not specified. The return for Artillery, which was late, gives the true number as 3.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to the respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9.

multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1, and deducted from the total of class 10. Corresponding deductions are made from the totals of the particular diseases childbirth and rheumatism. In the lines partly formed by asterisks the averages are derived not from the deaths of 10 years but those of 7 years.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851 ; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

NOTE.—The letters placed against the names of the sub-districts denote public institutions situated therein, namely, W workhouse; H hospital; L lunatic asylum; P prison; w indicates a workhouse not belonging to the district, parish, or union, although situated therein; thus, the sub-district of Hoxton New Town contains the workhouse belonging to St. Luke's parish; the sub-districts of Bow and Mile End Old Town Lower contain the workhouse belonging to the City of London Union; the Chelsea North-west sub-district contains a workhouse belonging to St. George Hanover Square; the Tottenham-court sub-district contains the workhouse belonging to the Strand Union; and the Hackney sub-district the workhouse belonging to the East London Union. Persons who die in hospitals and other public institutions do not in all cases belong to the sub-district in which the building is situated.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MARCH 10.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE health of London has undergone some improvement. The 1377 deaths that were registered in the week that ended on Saturday exceed the average number (1226), but are less by 183 than the deaths in the preceding week. Persons of the age of 60 to 80 have experienced the greatest relief; their deaths fell in the two weeks from 362 to 266.

Bronchitis was fatal to 169 persons, and in the preceding week to 249 persons of all ages. Hooping-cough was fatal in 74 cases, scarlatina in 40, measles in 22, small-pox in 23 cases, diarrhoea in 22 cases, cholera in one case, typhus in 41 cases. Tetanus was fatal to 2, hernia to 6 persons; proportions unusually high.

18 deaths from burns and scalds occurred; 9 of children under 5 years of age, 5 of children 5-15. These numbers exceed the average, and imply that in the cold weather the children wearing inflammable apparel are not sufficiently protected from the fires.

In the Table of epidemics, it is seen that the West districts are suffering from hooping-cough, the North and Central districts from scarlatina and hooping-cough, the East districts from measles and typhus, the South districts from scarlatina, hooping-cough, diarrhoea, and typhus.

288 persons died in workhouses and other public institutions.

London contained at the census 20,257 tailors and 26,639 shoemakers of the age of 20 and upwards; 14 tailors and 9 shoemakers died in the week. Of other men who died of the age of 20 and upwards, 3 were watchmakers, 10 carpenters, 5 silk-weavers, 4 bakers, 5 (out of 7276) licensed victuallers, one barrister, 2 solicitors, and 2 surgeons.

The births of 1920 children were registered in the week; 971 were boys and 949 girls.

The proverb, "A green yule makes a fat churchyard," probably expresses a scientific fact, notwithstanding the evident fatality of cold; and we may hope that the population will escape some of the epidemics which germinate in mild winters, and burst out suddenly in summer.

Scurvy is, however, slightly increasing, and as the frost has destroyed many vegetables, there is some danger of its increasing without a little exertion on the part of the commissariat of London, that under ordinary circumstances supplies, without apparent difficulty, two millions and a half of people with beer, stout, wine, fresh meat, fruit, and vegetables, and a thousand other articles of food.

The weather of the week opened with the mean temperature at  $41^{\circ}7'$  on the first day, and gradually grew colder until the temperature fell to  $27^{\circ}7'$  on Saturday. The temperature was at first  $1^{\circ}8'$  above, at last  $12^{\circ}7'$  below, the average; and the mean temperature of the week was only  $36^{\circ}$ , the dew-point  $32^{\circ}5'$ . In the sun the thermometer once rose to 67°0'; on the grass it fell to 15°8'; the dryness was 3°5'. The wind blew from the south and east at the rate of 22 miles a day. No rain fell. Electricity was positive and active. The barometer was 29·732 inches, but ranged from 29·28 inches to 30·01 inches.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. GEORGE, SOUTHWARK; Borough-road.—At 8 Lombard-street, in the Mint, on 15th February, a spinster, aged 39 years, “natural, brought on by excessive cold.” Inquest.
At the Workhouse, Mint-street, on 22d January, a boy, probably 2 days, “exposure to cold, murdered by some person unknown.” Inquest.
ST. SAVIOUR; Christchurch.—At St. Saviour’s Workhouse, on 1st March, the widow of a coal porter, aged 103 years, “senile decay, chronic bronchitis.” Mr. Greenwood, the Registrar, observes:—“I believe there is no doubt that the age of this female has been stated correctly. She has been for many years an inmate of the Workhouse. She was out for the day on a visit to a friend about a fortnight previous to her death. I have registered during the week the deaths of six persons who have died in the St. Saviour’s Workhouse whose united ages amount to 481 years.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

ELECTRICITY.

SUNDAY . . . Positive, and tension moderate at each examination.

MONDAY . . . Positive, with variable tension; volleys of sparks were shown.

TUESDAY . . . Positive, and tension strong; sparks were shown.

WEDNESDAY . . . Positive, and tension strong; frequent volleys of sparks were shown.

THURSDAY . . . Positive, and tension variable; volleys of sparks shown.

FRIDAY . . . Positive, and tension strong; sparks were shown.

SATURDAY . . . Positive, and tension strong; frequent volleys of sparks were shown.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Until evening the amount of cloud was small, afterwards the sky was generally covered. A fine day.

During the afternoon the amount of cloud was variable, at other times of the day the sky was for the most part clear. A solar halo. A fine but dull day.

One fourth of the sky was covered with cloud during the morning and afternoon, cloudless afterwards. Fog was prevalent during the morning.

The sky was covered with cloud and fog until near noon, and it was clear during the remainder of the day.

Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud during the morning, and it was for the most part clear during the remainder of the day.

The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with cloud throughout the day. Light snow fell frequently. A cold day.

Until evening the sky was generally overcast, and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards. Light snow fell frequently. A painfully cold day.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 38° 0'; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 33° 8'; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 34° 6' and 31° 6' respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29·28 in. at the beginning of the week to 29·76 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 6th; decreased to 29·72 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 7th; increased to 30·01 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 8th; and decreased to 29·66 in. by the end of the week.

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MARCH 17.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE effect of a severe winter is seen in the Weekly Returns for some time after a milder temperature has been restored. The mortality of London is still high; the deaths which had fallen from 1560 to 1377 in the previous week again rose last week to 1425. The mean weekly temperature was  $40\cdot8^{\circ}$  in the beginning of March, higher by  $14^{\circ}$  than it had been in the latter half of February. It fell to  $36^{\circ}$ , and in the week that has now passed it was  $38\cdot5^{\circ}$ . From natural causes, as well as from the circumstance that deaths are not always registered as soon as they occur, the consequences of a change of temperature in one week are only developed in the returns of the week following, or at a later period.

In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number of deaths was 1142, which by a correction for increase of population is raised to 1256. The present Return shows that 169 persons died above the estimated number.

Of the 1425 who died last week 727 were males, 698 females. The deaths of 684 young persons (under 20 years of age) were registered, which is more than in any of the previous five weeks, not excepting those in which the weather was coldest. At all the more advanced ages the influence of a warmer sky is apparent. The following are the deaths of octogenarians in the last six weeks: 95, 62, 71, 78, 66, and 51. Diseases of the respiratory organs were fatal in 339 cases, whilst the average is 260; besides these, phthisis numbers 160, hooping-cough 76, and influenza 9. Small-pox was fatal in 23 cases, 8 of which were amongst persons more than 15 years old. 13 children died from want of breast-milk, and an adult from privation.

Last week the births of 906 boys and 873 girls, in all 1779 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1537.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean reading of the barometer in the week was  $29\cdot339$  in.; the highest was  $29\cdot70$  in. The mean temperature of the week was  $38\cdot5^{\circ}$ , which is lower than the average by  $2\cdot8^{\circ}$ . Sunday (the 11th) was cold; the highest temperature was  $36\cdot3^{\circ}$ ; and the mean  $31\cdot2^{\circ}$ , or  $9\cdot5^{\circ}$  below the average. Snow and sleet fell on that day. The following days were warmer, and towards the end of the week the mean temperature rose above the average. The wind blew chiefly from the south-east and south. The highest temperature of the week was  $53\cdot3^{\circ}$  on Friday; the lowest  $24\cdot5^{\circ}$  on Sunday. The mean dew-point temperature was  $33\cdot7^{\circ}$ , and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was  $4\cdot8^{\circ}$ . Rain fell to the amount of  $0\cdot70$  in., about half of which fell on Monday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ISLINGTON; West. Mr. Watts, the Registrar writes:—"Seven persons died from small-pox confluent in the Small-pox Hospital during the week; none of these patients had ever been vaccinated; one was an infant, aged 6 months; the others were between the ages of 18 and 36."

LAMBETH; Lambeth Church, 2d Part.—At the Workhouse, on 13th March, a journeyman carpenter, aged 42 years, "cold and privation, congestion of the lungs (3½ days)."

GREENWICH; West.—At the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, on 9th March, a lascar, aged 30 years, "scurvy, purging, exhaustion."

BIRTHS Registered LAST WEEK, and in the ELEVENTH Week of Ten previous Years.

* The returns of deaths from the sub-districts of Mile End New Town and Whitechapel North were not received in time for insertion in the above Tables. Averages of 11 for the former and 16 for the latter, are inserted instead; and in the Table of Diseases the sum of 27 is added to Causes not specified. The true numbers are now ascertained to be 11 for Mile End New Town (the same as the average), and 12 for Whitechapel North.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1, and deducted from the total of class 10. Corresponding deductions are made from the totals of the particular diseases childbirth and rheumatism. In the lines partly formed by asterisks the averages are derived not from the deaths of 10 years but those of 7 years.

+ Seamen and others on board ships.

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851 ; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.
NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .	Positive, and tension strong at each examination.	The sky was overcast throughout the day. Snow fell thickly during the earlier portion of the morning, and sleet fell during the evening.
MONDAY .	Negative, and very active during the time rain was falling; positive, and tension strong at other times.	The sky was frequently clear during the morning, and it was covered with cloud at other times of the day. Rain fell heavily during the afternoon.
TUESDAY .	Positive, and tension weak.	During the morning the clouds were slightly broken, at other times the sky was overcast.
WEDNESDAY	Positive, and tension strong; frequent sparks were shown.	The sky was generally covered with cloud throughout the day. Thin rain fell occasionally during the afternoon.
THURSDAY .	Positive, and tension strong; sparks were shown.	The sky was clear during the earlier portion of the morning, at other times of the day it was covered with cloud. Rain fell during the afternoon and evening, at intervals.
FRIDAY .	Positive, and tension variable.	During the morning the sky was at times covered with cloud, and at others almost clear; at night no cloud prevailed.
SATURDAY .	Negative, and weak during the morning, at other times of the day, nothing was shown.	The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day. Rain fell frequently.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface; the thermometers have not yet been replaced since they were broken during the frost. Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 42.2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 41.8°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 39.8° and 39.1° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.66 in. at the beginning of the week to 28.78 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 12th; increased to 29.70 in. by the morning of the 15th; decreased to 29.44 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 16th; increased to 29.61 in. by 9h. P.M. on this day; and decreased to 29.25 in. by the end of the week.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THIRTEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-THREE persons, namely 701 males and 682 females, died in London in the week that ended last Saturday. The public health is improving, though the rate of mortality is still high even for March; for there died last week 123 persons more than the number obtained by calculation from corresponding weeks in previous years (1845-54). It does not happen usually till April that more genial weather produces a marked effect in the reduction of the mortality.

Diseases of the respiratory organs have been more fatal than the zymotic, or any class in which the causes of death are arranged. Their decrease in the last five weeks, from the point at which their mortality was greatest, is shown in the following numbers: 434, 433, 313, 339, and (last week) 285 deaths. The last number is higher than usual, which is owing specially to bronchitis, the deaths from which were 146, while the estimated number is 108. The mean temperature ( $38\cdot2^{\circ}$ ), about the same as in the previous week, was  $4^{\circ}$  below the average, and the latter part of the week was remarkably cold. Hooping-cough is prevalent, and 75 children died of it. The total number of deaths from measles did not exceed 20, but about a third of these occurred in the Workhouse at Bethnal-green, and 4 on the same day. Scarlatina has become less prevalent than it was in the earlier part of the year; the greatest number of fatal cases last week occurred in the North districts, chiefly in Somers Town and Kentish Town. Typhus and common fever do not prevail more than usual; 17 of the 49 deaths occurred in the South districts. Cancer was fatal in 16 cases; hernia in no fewer than 10 cases; in the first eleven weeks of this year this complaint has averaged 5. Three persons died of intemperance.

Last week the births of 800 boys, and 758 girls, in all 1558 children, were registered in London. In the nine corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1535.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean reading of the barometer in the week was  $29\cdot300$  in. The highest reading occurred on Monday, and was  $29\cdot85$  in. The mean temperature was  $38\cdot2^{\circ}$ , which is  $3\cdot9^{\circ}$  below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature was a little above the average till Wednesday, when it fell  $4\cdot6^{\circ}$  below it; on the three following days the amount of depression below the average was from  $8^{\circ}$  to near  $10^{\circ}$ . The highest temperature occurred on Tuesday, and was  $57\cdot8^{\circ}$ ; the lowest on Saturday, and was  $28\cdot8^{\circ}$ . The mean dew-point temperature was  $34\cdot3^{\circ}$ , and the difference between this and the mean air temperature representing the dryness of the air was  $3\cdot9^{\circ}$ . The wind blew from the south-west at the beginning of the week; and on Wednesday and the following days it was in the north-east and north. Rain fell on Thursday to the amount of  $0\cdot23$  in.; the whole amount in the 7 days was  $0\cdot28$  in. There was snow on Thursday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

† Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.
NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9 h. A.M., was 40·2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 38·3°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 38·1° and 36·2° respectively.

The reading of the barometer varied from 29·25 in. at the end of the week to 29·85 in. by noon on the 19th; decreased to 28·75 in. by noon on the 22d; turned to increase at 3h. P.M.; and was 29·22 in. at the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MARCH 31.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE BIRTHS of 2099 children and the deaths of 1604 persons were placed in the London Registers in the week that ended last Saturday, which was the last week of the quarter. At this period the registration usually shows an increase, arising from cases which occurred in previous weeks, but were not registered at the time of their occurrence. The deaths that belong properly to a former date are cases on which Coroners have held inquests, and chiefly consist of deaths from external causes, such as fractures, wounds, burns, suffocation, &c.; a class which in the present return numbers 139. Under the head sudden 74 deaths are classed, a number which is much greater than usual, these cases having been returned by the coroners as "found dead," "visitation of God," &c.

But it is obvious that this cause of disturbance as now stated will not affect, or will affect only to a small extent, the comparison with returns of corresponding weeks in previous years. In the thirteenth week of the years 1845-54 the average number of deaths was 1243, which with a correction for increase of population becomes 1367. It will therefore be near the truth to state that about 200 persons died last week above the usual number, in consequence apparently of the coldness of the season.

With the exception of phthisis, which in England destroys more lives than any other disease, and in the present return numbers 181 cases, bronchitis is the most fatal in the list, and next to it is pneumonia. To bronchitis 149 deaths are referred; to pneumonia 113; whilst the corrected averages are respectively 106 and 97. Hooping-cough was fatal in 77 cases, typhus in 49, scarlatina in 42, measles in 14, small-pox in 11. The deaths from small-pox are not many, but most of them occurred in the East districts; and the same remark is generally applicable to that part of London with reference to other zymotic diseases. During the last thirteen weeks 21 persons have died from disease directly attributed to intemperance; and others have died from injury received in a state of intoxication. In the same period 17 have died from want of the necessities of life; and 36 from exposure, or want of sufficient protection against the cold. Also in the last thirteen weeks 90 children died from want of breastmilk.

Last week the births of 1021 boys and 1078 girls, in all 2099 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1588.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean reading of the barometer in the week was 29.940 in. The mean daily reading was above 30 in. on the last four days. The mean temperature of the air was 36.5°, which is 6.5° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature fell below the average on Wednesday the 21st, and has continued below it during the rest of the month, the amount of depression averaging 7°. The highest temperature in the week occurred on Friday, and was 48°; the lowest on Monday, and was 25·6°. The difference between the dew-point temperature and air temperature was 4·6°. Scarcely any rain fell in the seven days; and the wind blew from the north and north-east.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. GILES IN THE FIELDS; North.—At 4 Regent’s-place, on 5th February, a bone collector, aged 60 years, “exhaustion caused by starvation and the want of the necessities of life.” Post mort. Inquest.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the THIRTEENTH Week of each of the following Years.

Multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1, and deducted from the total of class 10. Corresponding deductions are made from the totals of the particular diseases childbirth and rheumatism. In the lines partly formed by asterisks the averages are derived not from the deaths of 10 years but those of 7 years.

+ Seamen and others on board vessels in the docks and river are included in the population given for 1851; the numbers for 1841 are in general confined to persons enumerated on shore.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .	Positive, and tension strong at each examination.	The amount of cloud was variable till evening, after which time the sky was cloudless.
MONDAY .	Positive, and tension variable; sparks were shown.	The sky was mostly free from cloud till near noon, during the remainder of the day the amount of cloud was variable.
TUESDAY .	Positive, and tension variable; sparks were shown.	The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with cloud throughout the day. Thin rain fell occasionally during the evening.
WEDNESDAY	Positive, and at times negative, with variable tension.	The sky was generally covered with cloud throughout the day. Snow fell for some hours during the morning, and rain fell during the afternoon.
THURSDAY .	Positive, and tension variable; sparks were shown.	The sky was overcast till noon, during the afternoon it was one half covered, and at night it was again overcast.
FRIDAY .	Positive, and tension variable; sparks were shown.	The sky was for the most part covered with cloud till near noon, during the remainder of the day the amount of cloud was variable.
SATURDAY .	Positive, and tension strong; sparks were shown.	The sky was generally covered with cloud till near noon, and it was clear afterwards.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, APRIL 7.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE DEATHS of 1226 persons were registered in the week that ended last Saturday. The corrected average of deaths that occurred in the corresponding weeks of 1845-54 is 1253. These figures are satisfactory evidence of an improved state of the public health. The mortality which has for many weeks been excessive showed a decrease last week on the ordinary amount. But the mortality from bronchitis, and also from hooping-cough, is still great.

Last week the births of 828 boys and 689 girls, in all 1517 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1494.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·881 in. The mean temperature was 41·9°, which is 2·2° below the average. Monday was remarkably cold, and the mean daily temperature was below the average till Friday and Saturday, on which days it was 6° above it.

In the thirteen weeks of severe weather that ended on 31st March 19627 deaths were registered, or, in excess of the average, nearly 4000 persons in advanced age, weakly children, the sufferers from chronic diseases, and others, who when the winter set in were in sound health. Congestion and inflammation of the lungs were the most prevalent fatal diseases.

The zymotic diseases prevailed generally, but no death from small-pox happened in 46 sub-districts, no death from measles in 45 sub-districts. Hooping-cough and scarlatina were the most fatal epidemics, and their poison was the most equably diffused over the metropolis. Diarrhoea lay chiefly in the low West and South districts, where fever also prevailed, but not so fatally as in the East districts. 3938 persons died in the public institutions of London; namely, 2567 in work-houses, 1195 in civil and military hospitals, 166 in lunatic asylums, and 10 in prisons. 20 in every 100 of the deaths occurred in these public institutions; in Paris the proportion in 1853 was 39 in 100.

The number of persons in London of the age of 20 and upwards was 632545 in 1851; and the deaths among men of those ages were 4955; so that the mortality was at the rate of 31 in 1000 annually, or 8 quarterly. Of persons in the various classes on which this tribute was levied, 119 were in high state offices, or were in the civil service, or local officers; 263 were soldiers, seamen, or pensioners; 112 were men in the learned professions, or their subordinate assistants; 43 were persons engaged in literature, and in cultivating the fine arts or the sciences; 21 were innkeepers, 185 domestic servants; 447 in making or in selling dress; 237 were engaged in commerce; 636 belonged to the carrying class; 135 were agriculturists (including gardeners); 48 were engaged about horses and other animals; 838 were workers in the mechanical arts, employing materials of various kinds; 285 persons were workers and dealers in animal matters, 553 in vegetable matters, 393 in minerals; 365 were rude labourers; 167 were annuitants, persons who had retired from business, or persons of some rank and property, but no definite occupation.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

DEATHS Registered in the FOURTEENTH WEEK of each of the following Years, with the Mean Temperature for the same periods.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the FOURTEENTH Week of each of the following Years.

multipled by 3, is added to the total of class 1, and deducted from the total of class 10. Corresponding deductions are made from the totals of the particular diseases childbirth and rheumatism. In the lines partly formed by asterisks the averages are derived not from the deaths of 10 years but those of 7 years.

METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, during the Week ending Saturday, 7th April 1855. Under the Superintendence of the Astronomer Royal.

1855. Month and Day.	Phases of the Moon.	Mean daily reading of the Barometer (corrected and reduced to 32 degrees Fahrenheit).	Readings of Thermometers.				Lowest on the grass, as shown by a self-regis- tering thermometer, read at 9h. a.m.	Highest in the sun, as shown by a self-regis- tering thermometer, read at 9h. p.m.	In the Water of the Thames at Greenwich, by self-registering thermometers, read at 9 o'clock next morning.	Difference between the Dew Point Temperature and Air Temperature.			Difference between the mean temperature of the day and the mean tem- perature of the same day on an average of 38 years.	Wind as deduced from Anemometer.					Rain in inches, read at 9h. p.m.
			Dry.		Mean daily value.	Great- est.				Least.	Oster's.			lbs. 0.0

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY . .		The amount of cloud was small during the morning, at other times of the day the sky was generally covered.
MONDAY . .		During the afternoon the amount of cloud was variable, the sky was overcast at other times of the day.
TUESDAY . .		The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with cloud throughout the day. Thin rain fell occasionally.
WEDNESDAY .	Positive, with variable tension generally throughout the week.	The sky was covered with cloud till noon; during the afternoon the amount of cloud was variable, and it was clear at night. Hail was falling at 2h. P.M.
THURSDAY .		During the afternoon the sky was occasionally covered with cloud, at other times of the day it was mostly clear.
FRIDAY . .		Light clouds were prevalent until evening, after which time the sky became overcast. A very fine and warm day.
SATURDAY .		During the afternoon the sky was one half covered with cloud; at other times of the day it was generally overcast. A fine day.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermometer, with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which preceded that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering thermos, suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30.26 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.44 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 3d; increased to 30.03 in. by 10h. A.M. on the 6th; decreased to 29.96 in. by 5h. P.M. on the same day, then turned to increase; was 30.02 in. at noon on the 7th; and decreased to 29.93 in. by the end of the week.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the quarter.
* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.
† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, APRIL 14.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week that ended last Saturday the deaths of 1347 persons (715 males and 632 females) were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1035, which, if raised by a tenth part for increase of population, becomes 1138. Hence it appears that a high rate of mortality still prevails, the excess of deaths in the present return over the estimated number being 209.

Of the total number of last week's deaths 638, or nearly a half, occurred under 20 years of age, and of these 262 were the deaths of children who had not completed their first year. Sixty persons died who had attained the age of 80 years and upwards; during the fifteen weeks of this year the greatest number of octogenarians who died in any week was 95, when the mean temperature, which has now risen to  $47^{\circ}2'$ , was at  $30^{\circ}$ . The weekly number of deaths from bronchitis observes a remarkable uniformity; in the last five weeks it has been successively 163, 146, 149, 155, and 153. Pneumonia is less regular in its effect, the cases in which it was fatal in the same weeks having been 135, 96, 113, 98, and 92. There is now a decrease in the mortality of hooping-cough. From six zymotic diseases, small-pox, measles, scarlatina, hooping-cough, diarrhoea, and typhus, there were altogether 191 deaths last week, of which only 18 occurred in the Central districts, 29 in the Western, 42 in the Northern, the same number in the Eastern, and in the Southern districts 60, 17 of which were caused by scarlatina. Four deaths from scarlatina were in the sub-district of Saint Paul, Deptford, and 3 in that of Woolwich Arsenal. Out of 13 deaths from diarrhoea, 8 occurred in the Southern districts, viz. those lying on the Southern side of the river, the population of which is more than a fourth of the entire population of London.

Last week the births of 912 boys and 806 girls, in all 1718 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1411.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was  $29^{\circ}519$  in. The highest readings occurred at the beginning and end of the week, when they were respectively  $29^{\circ}94$  in. and  $29^{\circ}92$  in. The mean temperature of the week was  $47^{\circ}2'$ , which is  $2^{\circ}1'$  higher than the average of the same week in 38 years. The air became warmer towards the end of the week, and on Saturday the mean temperature rose to  $50^{\circ}4'$ ; and the highest temperature in the week occurred on that day, and was  $63^{\circ}0'$ . The lowest temperature was  $37^{\circ}2'$ , and occurred on Sunday (on which day snow fell in the north of Scotland). The mean dew-point temperature of the week was  $39^{\circ}9'$ , and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was  $7^{\circ}3'$ . The wind blew generally from the south-west and west. On Tuesday there was very active positive electricity, with strong galvanic currents, and abundance of sparks, and positive electricity was generally shown the rest of the week.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. SAVIOUR; St. Saviour.—At 16 Orange-street, on 10th April, the daughter of a seaman, aged 6 years, “English cholera (15 hours).”

ST. PANCRAS; Somers Town.—At 41 Barclay-street, on 10th April, the wife of a house painter, aged 39 years, “English cholera (30 hours).”

ST. GEORGE IN THE EAST; St. John.—At the Workhouse, on 9th April, a man of colour, aged 42 years, “fever.” It is stated in the medical officer’s certificate that “the deceased was taken to the workhouse by the police from the streets where he was found destitute and helpless.”

At the Workhouse, on 10th April, the wife of a mariner, aged 45 years, “debility consequent on erysipelas and excessive opium-taking.”

ST. MARYLEBONE; The Rectory.—At the Workhouse, on 10th April, a soldier, aged 38 years, “debility from destitution.”

The following was registered in the previous week :—

CLERKENWELL; Pentonville.—At 12 Collier-place, on 31st March, the daughter of a whitesmith, aged 12 months, “scarlatina (7 days).” Mr. Robinson, the medical attendant, appends the following note to his certificate :—“In this and the two adjoining houses in Collier-place, and in a house in Collier-street adjoining them behind, children have lately died of fever. The drainage is very bad; the dirt is not carried off, and the smell from the privies and drains is often very strong and offensive. There have been also other severe cases of fever in the houses, and the health of the other children is evidently lowered, probably in great measure from the poison they inhale daily.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent); on Wednesday the instruments were removed for alteration. Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 50·2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 49·3°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 48·2° and 47·1° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29·94 in. at the beginning of the week to 29·13 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 10th; increased to 29·43 in. by noon on the 11th, and was subject to very slight variations on the 12th and 13th; at 9h. P.M. on the latter day it was 29·49 in.; and increased quickly to 29·92 in. by the end of the week.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .		The sky was overcast throughout the day. Misty rain fell during the evening.
MONDAY .		The sky was overcast throughout the day.
TUESDAY .		The sky was at times wholly covered with cloud, and at others one half covered; showers of rain fell during the morning.
WEDNESDAY		The clouds were occasionally broken during the afternoon, otherwise the sky was covered with cloud throughout the day. Rain fell occasionally during the morning.
THURSDAY .		Three fourths of the sky were frequently covered with cloud during the morning, generally clear during the afternoon, and overcast at night.
FRIDAY . .		The sky was generally covered with cloud until the afternoon, after this time the amount of cloud was small.
SATURDAY .		During the earlier portion of the morning the sky was covered with cloud, afterwards the amount of cloud was small.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, APRIL 21.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE present Return exhibits a decided improvement in the health of London. The deaths which had been respectively 1226 and 1347 in the first two weeks of April fell in the week that ended on Saturday to 1087. The temperature of the last fortnight was little higher than it is expected to be in April, but it was ten degrees higher than in March, and human life reaps the benefit of the change. In the last four weeks the mean temperature has been  $36\cdot5^{\circ}$ ,  $41\cdot9^{\circ}$ ,  $47\cdot2^{\circ}$ , and  $49\cdot1^{\circ}$ .

In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54, the average number of deaths registered was 1035, which, if raised in proportion to increase of population, becomes 1138. The number of persons who died last week is 51 less than the estimated number.

Diseases of the respiratory organs, exclusive of phthisis and hooping-cough, destroyed about a fourth part of the persons who died in the first three months of this year. The deaths from that class of diseases were reduced last week to 222, about a fifth of the total mortality of the week. From phthisis 139 persons died; in the winter months the mean weekly number was 165. Small-pox was fatal in 19 cases, of which 14 occurred under 10 years of age; scarlatina was fatal in 46 cases, hooping-cough in 50, typhus in 33, measles only in 12, diarrhoea in 11. Six cases of scarlatina were fatal in Hammersmith and Fulham; 3 cases of small-pox in St. James, Bermondsey.

Last week the births of 916 boys and 872 girls, in all 1788 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1472.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was  $30\cdot148$  in. The mean daily reading was above 30 in. on 6 days of the week. At the end of the week the barometer rose to  $30\cdot40$  in. The mean temperature of the week was  $49\cdot1^{\circ}$ , which is higher by  $2\cdot6^{\circ}$  than the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was  $56\cdot9^{\circ}$  on Monday, which is  $10\cdot9^{\circ}$  higher than the average; and it fell to  $41\cdot9^{\circ}$  on Saturday, which is  $5\cdot4^{\circ}$  below the average. The wind which had been in the south-west on the first two days blew during the remainder of the week from the north-east. The highest temperature occurred on Monday, and was  $72\cdot8^{\circ}$ ; the lowest occurred on Thursday, and was  $29\cdot2^{\circ}$ . The mean dew-point temperature was  $40\cdot9^{\circ}$ , and the difference between this and the temperature of the air was  $8\cdot2^{\circ}$ . No rain fell, and London enjoyed a clear sky.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. JAMES, WESTMINSTER; St. James's-square.—At 50 Brewer-street, on 14th and 18th April, the daughter and son of a leather breeches maker, aged respectively 20 months and 9 years, “scarlatina.” Mr. Keith, the Registrar, observes :—“This is the only house in the sub-district where I have heard that scarlatina prevails. The mother was first attacked and afterwards the three children, of whom two have died during the last week. The other child remains seriously unwell.”

WANDSWORTH; Putney.—At 33 Gay-street, on 16th April, the son of a blacksmith, aged 17 years, “small-pox, confluent and petechial (5 days), congestion of the brain (3 days).” Mr. Whiteman, the medical officer, says :—“This patient was imprudently removed from Tooting to Putney in an open cart, and died shortly after. Vaccinated in his infancy, but no visible cicatrix.”

ST. GEORGE-IN-THE-EAST; St. John.—At the Workhouse, on 15th April, a New Zealander, aged 32 years, “natural death, accelerated by want, privations, and exposure.”

ISLINGTON; East.—At 1 Montague-place, on 24th March, the son of a mariner, aged 14 days, “atrophy (14 days).” Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar, states that “the child was buried the day after death, without certificate or notice to Registrar, and without religious ceremony.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. I, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. The thermometers suspended from the side of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship in the waters of the Thames have been out of order during this week. Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

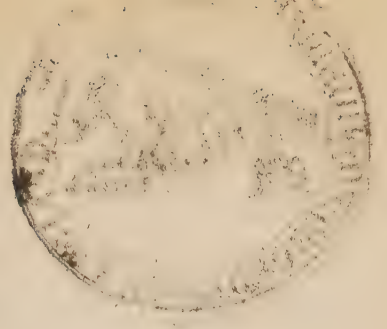

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 51.3°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 44.7°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 50.8° and 43.3° respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.92 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.25 in. by the evening of the 17th; and turned to decrease at 9h. A.M. on the 18th; was 29.92 in. at 3h. on the 19th; and increased to 30.40 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, APRIL 28.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week that ended on Saturday the number of deaths registered in London was 1132. This is rather more than the number of the previous week; but the last two returns together afford sufficient proof that the public health is advancing to a more satisfactory state. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number of deaths was 1066. That the actual number may be compared with the average, 100 should be added to the latter, to allow for increased population; and the comparison will then show that the mortality of last week did not much exceed the ordinary mortality at the end of April.

Diseases of the respiratory organs grow less prevalent and fatal, and to this circumstance chiefly the decrease of the total mortality is owing. Excluding phthisis and hooping-cough, that class of diseases which when the weather was cold caused 433 deaths in a week, produced in the last three weeks 282, 222, and 190, showing a steady decrease. Phthisis was fatal in 176 cases last week, a number as great as that which usually occurred in the depth of winter. Hooping-cough, which carried off 50 children in each of the last two weeks, prevails less than it did. The mortality from zymotic diseases in the aggregate is near the usual amount; 30 deaths are referred to small-pox, 15 to measles, 45 to scarlatina. Five from the last-mentioned disease occurred in Woolwich, 3 in Peckham, and 3 in Kensington.

Last week the births of 892 boys and 864 girls, in all 1756 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1495.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 30·140 in. The mean reading was above 30 in. on every day except Saturday. At the beginning of the week the highest reading occurred, and was 30·40 in. The mean temperature of the week was 44°, which is 4·5° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was below the average on every day except Tuesday, when it hardly exceeded the average. The coldest day was Sunday (the 22d), when the mean temperature was 39·9°, which was 7·6° below the average; and the lowest temperature occurred on that day, and was 29·6°. The highest temperature in the week was 68·0°, and occurred on Tuesday, and the lowest on the same day was 29·7°, nearly the lowest in the week, and showing a range of 38·3°. The mean dew-point temperature was 37·3°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 6·7°. The wind blew from the north and north-east; and no rain fell except a slight shower on the morning of Saturday. On that day the temperature of the air was 58° at noon, and fell 10 degrees by 3 o'clock.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

BERMONDSEY ; St. James.—At 13 Ebenezer-place, on 25th April, the daughter and son of a currier, aged respectively 9 and 3 years, died of malignant fever (9 and 7 days). The medical attendant states, that “there is a foul and offensive emanation from sewers; two other children in the same family are also suffering from fever.”

At 1 Glover-court, on 21st April, the son of a labourer, aged 3 years, “variola, natural (4 weeks).” The Registrar says :—“This case of small-pox occurred not many yards from the above cases. The informant states that the privy and drains attached to her house are foul, offensive, and sickening.”

GREENWICH; West.—At the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, on 21st April, a lascar, aged 30 years, “frost bite; sloughing.”

In the same ship, on 22d April, a lascar, aged 32 years, “frost bite, amputation of both legs.”

WESTMINSTER; St. Margaret.—At the Workhouse, on 24th April, a widow, aged 50 years, “destitution, persistent diarrhœa.”

LAMBETH ; Lambeth Church, 2d Part.—Mr. Logan, the Registrar, says :—“In some parts of my district I have found during last week a great prevalence of diseases of the respiratory organs; viz. bronchitis, pneumonia, and disease of the lungs, particularly amongst children.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the SEVENTEENTH Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .		Some clouds prevailed at night, otherwise the sky was clear throughout the day.
MONDAY .		The sky was for the most part clear throughout the day.
TUESDAY .		The sky was clear till near noon, and it was generally covered with cloud afterwards.
WEDNESDAY	A small amount of positive electricity has at times been shown throughout the week.	The sky was overcast till after noon; during the remainder of the day the amount of cloud was variable.
THURSDAY .		Three fourths of the sky were generally covered with cloud during the morning and afternoon; overcast at night.
FRIDAY .		The sky was mostly covered with cloud till near noon; one half covered during the afternoon, and clear at night.
SATURDAY .		The clouds were occasionally broken during the morning, otherwise the sky was covered throughout the day. A slight shower of rain fell near 9h. A.M. The temperature of the air decreased from 58° at noon to 48° by 8h. p.m.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hoop Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Saunders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 47.2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 44.5°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 45.6° and 42.6° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30.40 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.93 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 25th; increased to 30.11 in. by the morning of the 26th; at noon turned to decrease; was 29.93 in. at noon on the 28th; and increased to 30.03 in. by the end of the week.

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MAY 5.

[No. 18.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE present Return discovers an increase in the deaths of the week that ended last Saturday on those of the two previous weeks. Having been in these weeks 1087 and 1132, they rose last week to 1185, of which 597 were deaths of males, and 588 of females. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number of deaths was 990, which, if raised for increase of population by a tenth part for the purpose of comparison, becomes 1089. It appears that nearly 100 deaths occurred last week more than the ordinary rate of mortality would have produced.

The deaths of last week were returned from the five great divisions of London in the following numbers: 192 from the West Districts, 245 from the North, 169 from the Central, 258 from the East, and 321 from the Southern Districts. In the last division the population and area are considerably greater than in any other, and its contribution to the total mortality is also the greatest. Though the population of the West Districts is rather less than that of the Central, the deaths in the former were more by 23 than in the latter; and while the East Division is rather less populous than the North, the deaths exceeded those of the latter by 13. The corrected averages of deaths for the week are as follow:—In the West Division 166, North 213, Central 184, East 229, South 298. Hence it appears that the mortality was above the average in all except the Central Division. Of 38 deaths from scarlatina, four occurred in Woolwich, and three in Plumstead. Five deaths from fever are returned by the Registrar of Christchurch, Southwark. Bronchitis and pneumonia were fatal in 188 cases, which are assigned in equal proportions to the two diseases.

Last week the births of 845 boys and 779 girls, in all 1624 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1507.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·844 in. The reading of the instrument rose to 30·11 in. by 9 o'clock A.M. on the last day of April, which was the highest reading in the week. The mean temperature was 44°, which is 7° below the average of the same week in 38 years. It was the same as in the preceding week. The mean temperature was below the average on every day of the week, and on Friday the extent of depression below the average was so great as 11°. The mean temperature of that day was only 40·8°. The highest temperatures of Thursday and Saturday were 63·0° and 63·6°, and these were the highest in the week. The lowest temperature in the week occurred also on Saturday, and was 28·3°; the lowest on Thursday was 28·7°. The mean dewpoint temperature was 37·7°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 6·3°. The wind blew generally from the north-east. No rain fell, except a slight quantity on Monday and Tuesday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. PANCRAS; Somers Town.—At 3 Middlesex-street, on 27th April, the daughter of a gas stoker, aged 9 years, “scarlatina maligna (8 days).” Mr. Matthews, the Registrar, says:—“The remainder of the family, consisting of the wife and four children, were all attacked by the same disease, and were removed to the Fever Hospital.”

ST. JAMES WESTMINSTER; Golden Square.—At 10 Marlborough-row, on 2d May, a girl, aged 1 year, “small-pox, convulsions.” Dr. Parkes, the Registrar, states:—“There have been two cases of small-pox in this house, only one of which proved fatal. There are three children in one room, a few doors off, unvaccinated, the parents objecting to the operation.”

STEPNEY; Ratcliff.—At 1 Craster-place, on 2d May, a journeyman blacksmith, aged 46 years, “phthisis (12 months).” Mr. Wells, the Registrar, adds:—“Since registering this death an inquest has been held on this case, and the jury returned as follows, ‘Found dead in bed, death accelerated by want and destitution.’”

WESTMINSTER; St. Margaret.—At the Workhouse, on 29th April, a female, not known, aged 70 years, “old age (destitute).”

LAMBETH; Kennington, First.—On 1st May, a coachman, aged 33 years, “hydatids in liver (3 years).” (Post mortem.) Mr. Loraine Weaver, the medical attendant, adds:—“The cyst, very large, occupied the situation of the left lobe, which was completely obliterated.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the EIGHTEENTH Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

SUNDAY . .		The clouds were occasionally broken during the afternoon, otherwise the sky was covered with cloud throughout the day.
MONDAY . .		During the evening the amount of cloud was variable, at other times of the day the sky was overcast. Thin rain fell during the morning.
TUESDAY . .		The sky was mostly covered with cloud till near noon; during the afternoon it was one half covered, and clear at night. A little rain fell near noon.
WEDNESDAY		The sky was generally clear throughout the day.
THURSDAY .		The sky was clear till near 2h. p.m., and it was generally covered with cloud afterwards.
FRIDAY . .		The sky was for the most part covered with cloud until evening, and it was clear afterwards.
SATURDAY .		Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud till noon; during the remainder of the day the amount of cloud was variable.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

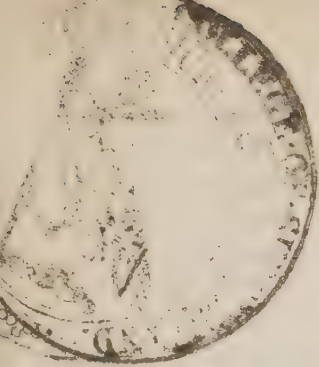

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9 h. A.M., was 48°·9; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 42°·5; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 47°·2 and 40°·9° respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 30·03 in. at the beginning of the week to 30·11 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 30th of April; decreased to 29·50 in. by 3h. p.m. on the 3d; and increased to 29·83 in. by the end of the week.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MAY 12.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE returns of mortality continue to show the effect produced on the public health by an ungenial spring. The number of deaths recorded in London in the week that ended last Saturday was 1183, almost the same as that of the preceding week. If the deaths had been the same in proportion to population as, taking the average, they were at the beginning of May in the ten years 1845-54, they would not have been more than 1071. During the last fortnight the excess of deaths has been about fifteen in a day above the estimated number. The mean temperature has been more or less below the average every day, except two, since the 20th of April, and last Saturday it was  $9^{\circ}$  less than the average.

The total number of deaths referred last week to diseases of the respiratory organs was 225; the average number in corresponding weeks of previous years, corrected for increase of population, was 176. Of those 225 cases 94 were caused by bronchitis, and 95 by pneumonia, and the close coincidence which appears in the results of the last two weeks deserves to be noticed, for each of these diseases was in the previous week fatal in 94 cases. In the colder weeks of winter bronchitis always had a large majority. 28 persons died last week of small-pox, 8 of whom were above 20 years of age. Scarlatina carried off 35 children, hooping-cough 47, croup 10, measles only 9. The mortality from phthisis was great, 182 persons having sunk under that malady. Four deaths from scarlatina occurred in Islington East, and a man died of "English cholera," after a short illness, in Bethnal-green.

Last week the births of 909 boys and 769 girls, in all 1678 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1472.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean reading of the barometer was  $29\cdot636$  in. The mean temperature of the week was  $47\cdot6^{\circ}$ , which is  $4\cdot4^{\circ}$  below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was below the average on every day except Thursday, on which day it was the same as the average. The highest temperature in the week occurred on Thursday, when it was  $65\cdot8^{\circ}$ ; the lowest was  $31\cdot5^{\circ}$  on Wednesday. The mean dew-point temperature was  $40\cdot0^{\circ}$ , and the difference between that and the mean temperature of the air was  $7\cdot6^{\circ}$ . The wind blew from the south-west, except on Tuesday and Saturday, when it was in the north-west. The amount of rain in inches was  $0\cdot52$ , more than half of which fell on Friday. On the afternoon of that day there was a heavy thunderstorm, with vivid flashes of lightning; the electrical apparatus exhibited very strong positive and negative electricity, with volleys of strong sparks and galvanic currents.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

SHOREDITCH; Haggerstone West.—At 5 Shap-street, on 12th May, a farm labourer, aged 40 years, “small-pox (7 days).” Mr. Bowring, the Registrar, states that “the deceased had been very ill nearly the whole of last winter, and was confined to bed many weeks; it is not known whether he had ever been vaccinated. Two of his children were attacked with small-pox 3 weeks ago, and are doing well; they were never vaccinated.”

BETHNAL GREEN; Hackney Road.—At 49 Old Castle-street, on 5th May, a cabinet-maker, aged 32 years, “English cholera (14 hours).”

ST. GEORGE, HANOVER SQUARE; Belgrave.—At 37 Upper Belgrave-place, on 7th May, the daughter of a millwright and engineer, aged 6 years, “cholera (9 months), followed by rheumatic fever, with valvular disease of heart; bronchitis (15 days).”

At 50 Cambridge-street, on 21st April, a milkman, aged 23 years, “paralysis, after exposure to severe cold (2 months).”

WESTMINSTER; St. Margaret.—At the Workhouse, on 1st May, a female, unknown, aged 56 years, “destitution, erysipelatous inflammation of leg.”

ST. MARTIN-IN-THE-FIELDS; Charing Cross.—At Charing Cross Hospital, on 12th May, a tobacconist, aged 37 years, “chronic disease of bowels, epilepsy from excessive narcotism from opium.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the NINETEENTH Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .	..	The sky was for the most part covered with cloud during the morning; the amount of cloud was variable afterwards.
MONDAY .	..	The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day. Light showers of rain fell during the evening.
TUESDAY .	..	Three fourths of the sky were mostly covered during the morning and afternoon; at night the sky was clear. Rain fell during the earlier portion of the morning, and again at night.
WEDNESDAY	..	Occasional breaks occurred in the clouds during the morning; otherwise the sky was covered throughout the day. Rain fell during the earlier portion of the morning.
THURSDAY .	..	The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day.
FRIDAY . .	..	The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day. A thunder storm, with vivid lightning and frequent heavy peals of thunder, between 2h. 30m. and 3h. p.m., accompanied with heavy rain.
SATURDAY .	..	The sky was overcast throughout the day.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 51.5°, and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 46.8°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 50.8° and 44.6° respectively.

The reading of the barometer at the beginning of the week was 29.83 in., and it continued at this reading with very slight changes till the 7th day at 9h. A.M.; it then decreased to 29.26 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 11th; and increased to 29.74 in. by the end of the week.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MAY 19.

[No. 20.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week that ended last Saturday the deaths of 1143 persons, namely, 620 males and 523 females, were registered in London. Though the figures show a small reduction on those of the two previous weeks, they still imply rather a high rate of mortality. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number of deaths was 989, which, if raised in proportion to increase of population, becomes 1088. The deaths returned last week are 55 in excess of the number obtained by calculation.

The mortality from zymotic or epidemic diseases in the aggregate is about the usual amount. Of 220 cases referred to this class, 161 occurred under ten years of age. Small-pox exhibits a sudden increase; the deaths from it, which were 15 and 28 in the two previous weeks, rose last week to 45. Of these, 18 were registered in the North districts, and 14 in the East districts. The Small-pox Hospital is situated in the former division, and in that institution 11 deaths occurred in six days. The disease appears to prevail in Shoreditch more than in any other part of London. On the south side of the river it was fatal in 3 cases in the sub-district of St. John, Horsleydown. 41 deaths were caused by scarlatina, and 4 of these occurred in Woolwich. Diseases of the organs of respiration have become less fatal; having numbered 219 and 225 in the two previous weeks, they fell last week to 185. There died from consumption 159 persons, of whom 27 were less than 20 years old, 77 were between the ages of 20 and 40 years, 44 were 40-60, and 11 were above that age and under 80. Three lives were destroyed by intemperance.

Last week the births of 820 boys and 836 girls, in all 1656 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1453.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.659 in. The mean temperature was 46.0°, which is 6.5° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature was below the average on every day except Saturday, and on Sunday and Tuesday it was 10° below the average. The amount of rain in the week was 0.44 in., most of which fell on Sunday. The wind was generally in the north.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

WANDSWORTH; Streatham.—At Shepherd's Cottage, behind Balham Chapel, on 18th May, the wife of a carter, aged 29 years, "fever (10 days), inflammation of lungs (3 days)." The following note is appended to the return:—"There is constantly a nauseous smell in the washhouse which adjoins the dwelling apartments, arising from the stagnant soil in the privy which is also under the same roof. There are no drains belonging to the house, although it has the advantage of good main drainage a few yards distant. Opposite at a distance of between 30 and 40 feet there is an open ditch, which is the receptacle for all the filth from several houses near, and the smell of which at times is most offensive."

ISLINGTON ; East.—Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar, says :—" I registered twins at 6 Queen's-road, Hornsey-road, on Saturday evening; the stench from the drains was so bad that the health of the persons in the house must be in danger. The immediate neighbourhood suffered severely from cholera at the last and former visitations."

ISLINGTON ; West.—Mr. Watts, the Registrar, writes :—" Eleven cases of confluent small-pox were fatal at the Small-pox Hospital between the 13th and 19th instant. Nine of the deceased persons had not been vaccinated."

HACKNEY ; Hackney.—At 15 Park-road, Dalston, on 16th May, a clerk, aged 34 years, " variola confuens (10 days), exhaustion (12 hours)." Seven years since he was vaccinated three times without effect."

WHITECHAPEL ; North.—At 12 Crown-court, on 15th May, the son of a chimney sweep, aged one year, " cholera (54 hours)."

LAMBETH ; Lambeth Church, 2d Part.—At the Workhouse, on 13th May, a pensioner, aged 52 years, " deficient food, exposure, and cold, exhaustion (5 days)." Mr. Logan, the Registrar, adds :—" I am unable to ascertain from what source the deceased derived the pension."

SOUTHWARK ; Borough Road.—At 7 Masons-buildings, Green-street, on 13th May, the son of a labourer, aged 4 years, " received a severe shock from the lightning on the 11th, seized with tetanus at 5 A.M. on the 13th, and died in 4 hours spasmodically convulsed."

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flut-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., P. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 52.0°; and the mean readings at 9h. P.M. were 48.7°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 49.7° and 46.0° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.74 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.32 in. by 10h. P.M. on the 13th; increased to 29.57 in. by noon on the 14th; decreased to 29.42 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 15th; increased to 29.99 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 18th; and decreased to 29.79 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, MAY 26.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE return for the week that ended last Saturday does not discover any decrease in the rather high rate of mortality which has lately prevailed in London, and which is as great at the end of May as it was in the beginning of the month, and is even higher than it was in the last two weeks of April. Last week 1187 deaths were registered. In the corresponding weeks of the ten years 1845-54, the average number was 951, which, if raised by a tenth part for increase of population, becomes 1046. It appears that 141 persons died last week more than would have died according to the ordinary rate of mortality in the fourth week of May.

The class of zymotic diseases shews a disposition to increase. The weekly numbers referred to it lately, run thus: 214, 210, 220, and (last week) 246. These 246 cases are distributed under particular heads as follows: small-pox 29, measles 16, scarlatina 52, hooping-cough 52, croup 12, thrush 3, diarrhoea 15, dysentery 5, influenza 1, remittent fever 4, typhus 43, metria (puerperal fever) 1, rheumatic fever 1, erysipelas 8, syphilis 3, and noma 1. Scarlatina, which averaged 40 in some previous weeks, rose to 52. Three deaths were registered from this disease in each of the following sub-districts: St. Paul Hammersmith, Saffron Hill, West London (South), and Poplar. 17, or nearly a half, of the deaths caused by other fever, occurred in the East districts. Phthisis is much more fatal than any other special disease; it numbered 170 cases last week, about 30 more than the usual number in corresponding weeks.

Last week the births of 855 boys and 767 girls, in all 1622 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1399.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·701 in. The mean temperature was 55·4°, which is 0·9° above the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean daily temperature, which was 8° below the average on Monday, and continued below it on the two following days, rose 10° above the average on Saturday. The mean temperature on Saturday was 65·3°. The highest temperature of the week occurred on the same day, and was 81·5°; the lowest was 39·5°, and occurred on Monday. The mean temperature of the water of the Thames in the week was 53°. The mean dew-point temperature was 48·5°, and the difference between that and the mean temperature of the air was 6·9°. The highest reading of a self-registering thermometer in the sun was 105° on Saturday. The wind, which on the two previous days had been in the north, blew on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from the south and south-east, and on Saturday changed to north-east. Hardly any rain fell in the week.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

BETHNAL GREEN ; Hackney Road.—At 1 Hope-street, on 15th May, the wife of a shoemaker, aged 49 years, “typhus (14 days).” Mr. Murray, the Registrar, says :—“The deceased on the 3d May signed the register book as witness of the death of a woman whom she had nursed, and was in apparent good health, but had then caught the infection, of which she became the second victim.”

ST. PANCRAS ; Somers Town.—At 3 Tucker’s-rents, on 17th May, a carpenter, aged 45 years, “paralysis (2 years), painters’ colic (2 months), typhus (14 days).”

GREENWICH ; Woolwich Arsenal.—At Ordnance Hospital, on 18th May, a gunner in the Royal Horse Artillery, aged 26 years, “remittent fever and diarrhœa in the Crimea since November last, great constitutional debility, disease of kidneys and spleen.”

WHITECHAPEL ; Artillery.—A female, aged 53 years, “bed sore (about 7 days), obesity, supposed to weigh about 23 or 24 stone.

POPLAR ; Poplar.—At 6 Dolphin-lane, on 22d May, a dock labourer, aged 104 years, “natural decay.”

* In consequence of a vacancy in the office of Registrar in Mile End New Town, the return of births from that sub-district has not been received. An average of 9 is inserted instead of the true number.
† The returns of deaths from Mile End New Town and St. Mary (St. George-in-the-East) have not been received. Averages of 10 for the former and 7 for the latter are inserted instead thereof in the Tables above, and also in the Table of Fatal Diseases, where the sum 17 is added to Causes not specified. The true number for St. Mary is now found to be 12.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .		The sky was one half covered with cloud during the afternoon, at other times of the day it was overcast.
MONDAY .		The sky was overcast throughout the day. Rain fell occasionally during the morning.
TUESDAY .		The sky was overcast during the morning and afternoon, at night the amount of cloud was variable.
WEDNESDAY .	Positive, with moderate tension generally during the week.	During the afternoon the sky was for the most part covered with cloud, and it was mostly clear at other times of the day.
THURSDAY .		Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud till noon, and it was overcast during the remainder of the day.
FRIDAY .		The sky was partially cloudy during the morning, and it was clear during the remainder of the day.
SATURDAY .		The sky was for the most part clear during the morning, at other times of the day the amount of cloud was variable.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the week that ended on Saturday the deaths of 1073 persons, viz., 542 males and 531 females, were recorded by the London registrars. This number presents a decrease of about a hundred on the deaths registered in the preceding weeks of May. The decrease is apparently to some extent the effect of a rise in the temperature, which took place in the week preceding that to which the present return relates. The following are the mean weekly temperatures of May:  $44^{\circ}$ ,  $47.6^{\circ}$ ,  $46^{\circ}$ ,  $55.4^{\circ}$ ; and in the week ending 2d June the temperature again fell to  $49.4^{\circ}$ .

In the corresponding weeks of the ten years 1845–54 the average number of deaths was 936; if this number is raised by a tenth part for increase of population it becomes 1029; and notwithstanding the improvement shown above, it appears that 44 persons died last week above the calculated number.

Last week the births of 714 boys and 688 girls, in all 1402 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number was 1405.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.692 in. The highest reading was 29.90 in. on the morning of Saturday. The mean temperature of the week was  $49.4^{\circ}$ , which is  $6.8^{\circ}$  below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was below the average on every day, except Sunday (27th May); on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday this depression extended from  $10^{\circ}$  to  $12^{\circ}$ . The highest temperature occurred on Sunday, and was  $72.8^{\circ}$ ; the lowest on Wednesday, and was  $39.2^{\circ}$ . The mean dew point temperature was  $43.8^{\circ}$ , and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was  $5.6^{\circ}$ . The mean temperature of the water of the Thames was  $56.5^{\circ}$ . The wind blew generally from the north or north-east till Friday, when it changed to south and south-west. The amount of rain was 0.79 in., of which 0.59 in. fell on Thursday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ISLINGTON; East.—At 1 Rutland-place, Hornsey-road, on 24th May, the son of a carpenter, aged 3 years, “febris (16 days). Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar, states that “this neighbourhood has suffered severely from fever.”

ST. SAVIOUR; St. Saviour.—At 79 Great Guildford-street, on 26th May, a painter and plumber, aged 31 years, “lead colic, frequent attacks (12 years).”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, -- lower than average. Temp. of 'Pharos' is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9 h. A.M., was 49.5°; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 49.0°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 48.7° and 47.3° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.68 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.59 in. by 9h. p.m. on the 27th; increased to 29.77 in. by the evening of the 28th; and continued about this reading, with very slight changes, to 3h. p.m. on the 30th; decreased to 29.36 in. by 3h. p.m. on May 31st; increased to 29.90 in. by 9h. A.M. on June 2d; and decreased to 29.84 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JUNE 9.

[No. 23.]

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE mortality of London is still higher than it should be in the beginning of June, a month which is usually the healthiest in the year; but the returns of the last two weeks prove that the public health is approaching a more satisfactory state. Last week 1087 persons, of whom 565 were males and 522 females, died. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 931, and if this is raised in a certain proportion as allowance for increase of population it becomes 1024. There was an excess in the deaths of last week of 63 above the estimated amount.

Of the 1087 deaths 515 or nearly a half occurred under 20 years of age; only 25 occurred at 80 years and upwards. Of 235 deaths, which are ascribed to diseases of the zymotic class, 186 were amongst young persons not more than 20 years old, 25 occurred at the ages 20-40, 12 at 40-60, 11 at 60-80, and one at a more advanced age. Of diseases in that class, scarlatina, which was fatal in 53 cases, is at present the most prevalent. Next in the number of cases referred to them are typhus and hooping-cough, from each of these 43 deaths having been registered. Small-pox numbers 22, diarrhoea 16, and measles 10. Three deaths from scarlatina occurred in the sub-district of Gray's-inn-lane, and 3 in that of Poplar. The deaths of 2 persons are returned as caused by intemperance.

Last week the births of 870 boys and 840 girls, in all 1710 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1414.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·779 in. The highest reading occurred at the end of the week, and was 29·99 in. The mean temperature was 58·5°, which is 1° above the average of the same week in 38 years. The warmest day was Wednesday, when the highest temperature was 83·5°; the lowest was 57·8°, and the mean was 71·4°, which is 13·9° above the average. The highest in the sun on that day was 107·5°. On the following day the mean temperature fell to 57·6°, which is rather below the average. The lowest temperature in the week occurred on Sunday, and was 39·3°. The mean dew-point temperature of the week was 48·4°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 10·1°. The temperature of the water of the Thames on the first five days was 55·8. The wind blew generally from the south-west. On Thursday 0·8 in. of rain fell, and the whole amount in the week did not exceed 0·10 in.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

BETHNAL GREEN; Hackney Road.—At 4 Clare-street, on 31st May, the son of a seaman, aged 18 years, “typhus (15 days), serous effusion (4 days).” Mr. Langley, the medical attendant, appends the following note to his certificate of the cause of death:—“I have examined the house in which this death took place, and find the smell arising from the privies at the back so dangerous for any one, and especially for children, to live in it, that unless immediate attention be paid to the same, attacks of fever, diarrhœa, and cholera will be the result.”

EAST LONDON; Cripplegate.—At 11 Hartshorn-court, on 6th June, the daughter of a carman, aged 4 years, “inflammation of lungs, and foul air of the dwelling.”

MARYLEBONE; All Souls.—At 43 Foley-street, on 31st May, the widow of a cowkeeper, aged 49 years, “affection of the pylorus, with organic misplacement and elongation of the stomach down to pelvis, and perforated pyloric orifice (13 years).” The medical attendant remarks that “the patient took no solid food for 7 years, and ejected all food daily.”

ISLINGTON; East.—At 9 Pierrepont-row, on 2d June, a horse-keeper, aged 25 years, “glanders.” The disease was contracted from an infected horse; symptoms acute and terrible.

* The returns of deaths from the sub-districts of St. Mary Magdalen Bermondsey and Waterloo-road (2d part) were not received in time for insertion in the above Tables. In lieu of them, averages of 8 for the former and 8 for the latter are inserted above, and also in the Tables pp. 184-6. In the Table of Diseases the sum 16 is added to Causes not specified. The true numbers have been ascertained to be, for St. Mary Magdalen 4, and for Waterloo-road (2d part) 5.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

SATURDAY .	..	The sky was three fourths covered with cloud during the morning, and it was for the most part clear during the remainder of the day.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 61.8°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 57.0°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 61.7° and 58.2° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.84 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.74 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 4th; increased to 29.79 in. by noon on the 5th; decreased to 29.59 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 6th; and increased to 29.99 in. by the end of the week.

LONDON:

WEEKLY RETURN

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JUNE 16.

[No. 24.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the week that ended on Saturday the deaths of 999 persons, viz., 529 males and 470 females, were registered in London. In the corresponding weeks of ten years 1845-54 the average number was 915, and if for the purpose of comparison this is raised in proportion to increase of population it becomes 1006. The number of deaths returned last week is, therefore, rather less than the estimated number, a more favourable result than the bills of mortality have for some time disclosed.

Last week the deaths caused by diseases of the respiratory organs (exclusive of phthisis and hooping-cough) declined to 132, which is nearly the same as the corrected average of corresponding weeks. During the first quarter of this year the deaths from this class of diseases were, on an average, to those from all causes, in the proportion of 1 to 4. Last week they were as 1 to 7. During the same quarter the deaths from the zymotic class of diseases were to the whole number as 1 to 5; last week, when 207 died from zymotic complaints, they were in the proportion nearly of 1 to 4. Of those 207 deaths 27 are due to small-pox, 18 to measles, 45 to scarlatina, 26 to hooping-cough, 10 to croup, 1 to thrush, 17 to diarrhœa, 1 to dysentery, 2 to cholera, 2 to influenza, 1 to purpura, 1 to infantile fever, 33 to typhus, 5 to puerperal fever, 1 to rheumatic fever, 12 to erysipelas, and 5 to syphilis. Four deaths from fever occurred in the sub-district of Hoxton New Town; 6 from scarlatina in Woolwich. One person died of disease caused by intemperance, besides 2 who were suffocated in a state of intoxication. One person died from want.

Last week the births of 718 boys and 756 girls, in all 1474 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1345.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·619 in. On Sunday and Monday it was above 30 in. The highest reading in the week was 30·11 in., and occurred on the former day. The mean temperature of the week was 55·5°, which is 3·4° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature fell on Saturday to 49·5°, which is about 10° below the average. The temperature rose to 72·5° on Monday, the highest in the week, and it was near the same point on Sunday and Wednesday. The lowest temperature occurred on Saturday, and was 44·8°. The mean dew point temperature was 48·9°, and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was 6·6°. The temperature of the water of the Thames on the last five days was 61·4°. The wind blew generally from the south-west. Rain to the amount of 0·55 in. fell on the last four days. Hail fell towards the end of the week.

GREENWICH; Woolwich Arsenal.—At 24 Richardson's-buildings, on 11th June, the daughter of a pig dealer, aged 22 years, "English cholera, diseased heart."

STEPNEY; Mile End Old Town Lower.—At 11 Alfred-terrace, on 9th June, the son of a cabinet maker, aged 14 years, "diarrhoea (3 days), choleraic symptoms (12 hours)."

BETHNAL GREEN; Hackney Road.—At 11 Nelson-place, on 10th June, the daughter of a coke dealer, aged 3 years, "bronchial, tracheal, and laryngeal inflammation, of long duration." Mr. Evans, the medical attendant, appends the following note to his certificate of the cause of death; viz.: "The death of this child was greatly accelerated by, if not wholly attributable to, the mephitic atmosphere she had to respire, caused by the state of the drains, and deficiency of sewerage in that neighbourhood. I would strenuously recommend an official representation to the Board of Health of the deficiency of sewerage in this locality, as, in my opinion, likely to contaminate the surrounding neighbourhood with poisonous miasma."

SHOREDITCH; Hoxton Old Town.—At 10 Haberdashers-walk, on 12th June, the daughter of a linendraper, aged one year and 9 months, "small-pox (never vaccinated). The informant says that "this child had no medical attendant, and that two other children in the family are now recovering from the same disease." Mr. Pearce, the Registrar, adds, "I regret to state there are several cases of small-pox in my sub-district."

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the TWENTY-FOURTH Week of each of the following Years.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JUNE 23.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN THE WEEK that ended last Saturday 1075 deaths were registered in the metropolitan districts. Of these 548 were deaths of males, 527 of females. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 923, which to be compared with last week's return must be raised in proportion to increase of population. The average rate of mortality would have produced 1015 deaths last week; the actual number was in excess of the estimated number by 60.

Of the seventeen classes which compose the table of fatal diseases the zymotic class shows the greatest number of deaths referred to it. Next is the tubercular class; and third, in its sum of mortality, is the class of diseases of the respiratory organs. The three classes number respectively 247, 221, and 138; the first beginning, at this period of the year, to increase, while the last declines. Scarlatina, which seems to prevail more than any other disease of the zymotic class, was fatal in 54 cases last week. 7 deaths were caused by this complaint in Marylebone, 3 in the sub-district of Saint John, Paddington, 2 in that of Regent's-park. Small-pox was fatal in 28 cases, of which 6 occurred to persons who were 20 years old or more. Diarrhœa, which averaged 15 in the previous six weeks, rose last week to 25. No cholera appears in the return. Of the total number of 1075 deaths registered, 522 were amongst persons under 20 years of age, 34 amongst those who had attained the age of 80 or upwards.

Last week the births of 882 boys and 869 girls, in all 1751 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1383.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 30·031 in.; and the mean daily reading was above 30 in. on every day after Monday; it was highest on Wednesday, and on that day the mean was 30·253 in. The mean temperature of the week was 52·9°, which is 7° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was below the average on every day, and on the first four days the extent of this depression was from 8° to 11°. The highest temperature of the week occurred on Friday, and was 74°; the lowest on Thursday, when it was 39·5°. Ice was formed on the morning of Thursday. The mean dew-point temperature was 44·1°, and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was 8·8°. The highest temperature in the sun occurred on Friday, and was 101·5°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 59·3. On Monday the wind blew from the south-west; on the following days it was in the north or north-east. Some rain fell in the beginning of the week, but the whole amount did not exceed 8 hundredths of an inch.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. PANCRAS; Somers Town.—At 3 Suter’s-buildings, on 15th June, the daughter of a shoemaker, aged 3 years, “fever (4 weeks), dropsy (7 days).” Mr. Sutherin, the medical attendant, adds the following to his certificate :—“Fever has prevailed in this court, consisting of 8 houses, particularly at No. 3, where 5 cases have occurred, which I attribute to the poisonous gases evolved from the cesspool adjoining the kitchen. The poor in this district complain of the great difficulty in getting the dust removed. The dustmen frequently refuse to take it unless they receive a gratuity. This system of extortion is much to be condemned, as it is a great impediment to cleanliness and health.” Mr. Matthews, the Registrar, adds his testimony in confirmation of the statement with regard to the dust.

HOLBORN; St. George the Martyr.—On 15th June, the widow of a coal merchant, aged 54 years, “exhaustion from grief and anxiety of mind at the loss of her husband (14 weeks).”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

The return of deaths in the sub-district of St. Mary Newington has not been received.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY .	Weak positive electricity was shown occasionally during the week.	The amount of cloud was variable during the afternoon, at other times of the day the sky was for the most part overcast. Light showers of rain fell.
MONDAY .		The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day. Misty rain fell frequently.
TUESDAY .		The sky was three fourths covered with cloud till noon, one half covered during the afternoon, and it was clear at night.
WEDNESDAY .		The greater portion of the sky was covered with cloud till noon, and it was generally clear afterwards.
THURSDAY .		The amount of cloud was variable till noon, during the remainder of the day the sky was for the most part clear.
FRIDAY .		A frost in the morning; ice formed.
SATURDAY .		The sky was clear till 1h. p.m., and it was overcast generally afterwards.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering thermos. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 56.8°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 54.5°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 58.3° and 52.2° respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.30 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.98 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 18th; decreased to 29.72 in. by 9h. P.M. on the same day; increased to 30.26 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 20th; decreased to 29.99 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 23d; and increased to 30.10 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JUNE 30.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the week that ended last Saturday the deaths of 1273 persons, of whom 669 were males and 604 females, were registered in London. The return shows an increase on that of the previous week, when the number was 1075. This result is not caused by an increased mortality, but by an influx into the registers (which is usual at the end of a quarter) of cases returned by coroners, which have accumulated during previous weeks. In the table of causes of death these cases are chiefly found under the several heads that compose the class of deaths by "violence." This class comprises 158 deaths in the present return, against 53 in the preceding week.

In the corresponding weeks of the ten previous years the average number of deaths was 1023, and with the same rate of mortality, which then prevailed, in the population as now existing, the number would be 1125. The excess of the present return above the corrected average is 148; and the comparison is admissible, because the corresponding weeks having occurred at or near the end of a quarter, they were subject for the most part to the same irregularity which has been mentioned above.

Last week the deaths from zymotic diseases were 212, whilst the corrected average is 249. Of that number 24 were caused by small-pox, 39 by scarlatina, 36 by hooping-cough, 43 by typhus, and only 9 by measles. The only disease in this class which manifests any tendency to increase is diarrhœa, and the numbers from it are still inconsiderable. In the last four weeks diarrhœa was fatal in 16, 17, 25, and 33 cases.

Last week the births of 879 boys and 853 girls, in all 1732 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1484.

The reading of the barometer at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, rose to 30·25 in. by the morning of Wednesday, which was the highest reading in the week. The mean reading was above 30 in. on every day till Friday, and the mean of the week was 30·048 in. The mean temperature of the week was 63°, which is 1·8° above the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was above the average on every day after Monday; and on Wednesday when it was 66·8° it was 5·6° above the average. On that day the highest temperature of the week occurred, and was 80·5°; the lowest occurred on Monday, and was 47·7°. The highest reading of a thermometer in the sun was 105° on Saturday. The mean dew point temperature of the week was 52·8°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 10·1°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 62·4°. No rain fell in the week.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

Mr. Pearce, the Registrar of Hoxton Old Town, has forwarded to the Registrar-General a communication signed by nine inhabitants of Bridport-place, Hoxton, who complain of "large quantities of refuse garbage" accumulated on premises known as the brickfield, a vacant piece of ground situated within a few yards of the dwelling-houses of the complainants. They state that this nuisance renders the air impure and unwholesome, and will probably be injurious to the health of the neighbourhood.

SHOREDITCH; Haggerstone West.—At the Workhouse, on 23d June, a boy, aged about 9 weeks, unknown, "convulsions." Left at the gate of the Workhouse on the 15th instant, 12 A.M., in a basket, with a note and 2s. 6d. The following is a copy of the note :—" Sir, I am sorry to say that necessity drives me to this act. I am not cruel to my own child, and so I will prove. My husband is gone to the Crimea, and, please God, when he returns I will take my child again. I am sorry that I must go to service, and I will give 2s. 6d. per week. Please to put the child in the wet nurse ward, and I will pay the 2s. 6d. a week, and if it lays in my power I will pay something more; the child is 8 weeks old; name, George Gates." A second half crown has since been received, but no clue to the mother has yet been found.

CLERKENWELL; St. James.—At 7½ Bailey's-yard, on 26th June, the daughter of a butcher, aged 2 years, "scarlatina maligna (6 days)." Mr. Goddard, the medical attendant, appends the following note :—" Fatal termination rendered more inevitable by the poisonous emanations from a dung pit, and certain sheds containing offal and filth within a few feet of the room in which deceased lay."

WESTMINSTER; St. John.—At 5 North-street, on 29th June, the son of a police constable, aged 3 years, "pneumonia produced by a tamarind stone in the bronchus (9 days)." Post mort.

* The returns from the sub-districts of West London, North, and St. Peter Walworth were not received in time for insertion in the above Tables. Instead thereof, averages of 21 for the former and 18 for the latter, derived from the returns of six previous weeks, are inserted above, and also in the Table pp. 208-10, where the sum 39 is added to Causes not specified in the Table of Fatal Diseases. The true numbers are now found to be 14 for West London, North, and 23 for St. Peter Walworth.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 9 and deducted from the total of class 1.

SUNDAY . .		Light clouds were prevalent at times during the morning and afternoon, the day was however for the most part fine.
MONDAY . .		The sky was overcast generally.
TUESDAY . .		During the afternoon the sky was for the most part clear, at other times of the day the amount of cloud was variable.
WEDNESDAY	Generally positive and weak tension.	The sky was generally one half covered with cloud.
THURSDAY .		The sky, with slight exceptions, was clear throughout the day.
FRIDAY . .		The sky was clear until evening, and it was covered with cloud afterwards.
SATURDAY .		The sky during the afternoon was partially cloudy, and at other times of the day it was clear.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders. R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

WEEKLY RETURN

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JULY 7.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths registered in London, which in May rose to nearly 1200 in a week, and in June to nearly 1100, fell to 926 in the week that ended last Saturday. The average number in the ten corresponding weeks of 1845-54, when corrected for increase of population, is 1058. The present return is therefore of a favourable character.

Diarrhœa was, however, fatal in 28 instances, cholera in 6: and one of the cases of cholera was of a severe type, as in eleven hours it killed a labourer in the Battersea Workhouse on Friday 6th July; one warning day of diarrhœa preceded the cholera.

The temperature of the Thames was  $66\cdot2^{\circ}$  during the week, and its waters were exceedingly impure; the water supply is not yet good, and the sewers are left untrapped and ill ventilated, while the streets are imperfectly cleansed; so that if London is left much longer without some sensible sanatory control, the public health must inevitably soon decline, and the population be afflicted by a great epidemic.

The health of London during the three months of April, May, and June has been better than it was in the corresponding seasons of the two previous years; but the mortality is still higher than it was some years ago, and the deaths in thirteen weeks were 14,997, or more by some thousands probably than would have happened had the sanatory arrangements of London been in a satisfactory state.

328 persons, nearly all children unvaccinated, died of small-pox, 182 of measles, 589 of scarlatina, 626 of hooping-cough, 505 of typhus. Small-pox prevailed most in the East and South districts, measles in the East, scarlatina generally, hooping-cough in the West and North, fever and diarrhœa in the South districts. Erysipelas is still unusually prevalent: and 47 mothers died of metria, or fever after childbirth, and 78 of other diseases incidental to that state; of diarrhœa 222 persons died; of cholera 8. The deaths from cholera were only 11 in the corresponding season of the year 1854, which, nevertheless, subsequently witnessed a great outbreak of the epidemic.

The deaths from consumption (2126) and from bronchitis (1175) exceed the average; a result which is perhaps referable in some measure to the preceding severe winter. 22 deaths are ascribed directly to intemperance, 38 to delirium tremens, 28 to poison, 86 to burns and scalds, 26 to hanging (chiefly suicides), 30 to suffocation, 89 to drowning, 188 to fractures and contusions, 19 to wounds.

3870 men of the age of 20 and upwards died in London in the thirteen weeks; namely, 2 peers of the realm and 82 persons in the civil service, and 25 in the police and in offices of local government; 209 officers, soldiers, and pensioners, 103 members of the learned professions, including 9 clergymen, 4 barristers, 23 solicitors, 3 physicians, 12 surgeons, 43 men of letters, men of science, or artists; 478 men engaged in entertaining, clothing, performing personal offices, including 12 eating and coffee house keepers, 88 domestic servants, 60 inn servants, 15 hair-dressers, 108 tailors out of 20,257, and 139 shoemakers out of 26,639. Of the mercantile class 189 men died, including 10 merchants, 1 banker, 5 stock brokers, 67 commercial clerks; of the carrying class 484 men died; of men engaged in agriculture and in gardens 85 died. The deaths of men engaged about horses and animals, as grooms, jockeys, horse-keepers and others, were 50; of men engaged in art and mechanical productions 670; butchers and men engaged in working and dealing in animal matters 201; greengrocers, bakers, licensed victuallers, and persons working and dealing in vegetable matters 469; men working and dealing in coal, iron, and other minerals 308; labourers and others (branch of labour undefined) 237; men of rank or property not returned under any office or occupation 142; and 81 men had no specified occupation.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

ELECTRICITY.

SUNDAY .
MONDAY .
TUESDAY .
FRIDAY .
SATURDAY .

Weak positive electricity was shown at the times of examination throughout the week.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Clouds were prevalent generally throughout the day, but variable in amount.
The sky was for the most part covered with cloud throughout the day. A shower of rain fell near 1h., but its amount was not measurable.
The sky was covered with cloud at night, at other times of the day the amount of cloud was variable.
The sky was frequently covered with thin clouds during the morning, and was generally clear afterwards. Misty rain fell near noon.
Light clouds were prevalent, but small in amount.
Clouds covered the sky during the earlier portion of the morning, clear during the remainder of the day.
The sky was covered with cloud till near 2h. p.m., and it was clear afterwards. Fine weather has prevailed throughout the week.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; 9h. p.m. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. a.m. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken. The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 62.7°; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 65.8°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 63.2° and 61.2° respectively. The reading of the barometer increased from 29.96 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.10 in. by the morning of the 2d; decreased to 29.98 in. by 3h. p.m. on the 4th, then increased slightly, and turned to decrease again before midnight; was 29.90 in. at 9h. a.m. on the 5th; increased to 29.93 in. by 9h. a.m. on the 6th, decreased to 29.91 in. by 3h. p.m.; increased to 29.97 in. by 9h. a.m. on the 7th; and decreased to 29.93 in. by the end of the week.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the quarter. * Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations. † Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated,

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JULY 14.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE present return, like that of the previous week, indicates a favourable state of the public health. The deaths of 941 persons, namely, 515 males and 426 females, were registered in London in the week that ended on Saturday. In the corresponding weeks of the ten years 1845-54 the average number of deaths was 954. For comparison of the number now returned with the average the latter must be raised in proportion to increase of population, and with this correction it becomes 1049. The result of the comparison is a difference of about 100 in favour of last week, arising from improved health, and also to some extent from the high mortality of the winter and spring months, which thinned the old and infirm part of the population. The mean temperature of the last three weeks has been eleven degrees higher than it was in the greater part of May and June.

The mortality from the zymotic class of diseases is not high at present. In the corresponding week of 1848 and 1849 the deaths from that class were 319 and 630; in that of last year they were 270; last week they were 222. Measles, which has this year prevailed in many parts of the country, was fatal in London last week in only 5 cases. The deaths from small-pox were 18, from whooping-cough 32, from scarlatina 44, from diarrhoea 45, and from typhus 49. The Registrar of the sub-district of Lambeth Church (2d part) mentions that scarlatina has been very prevalent in his district last week, and attacks young children with much severity. It was fatal there in 3 cases. The diarrhoea, common in the summer months principally to children, is making some progress, the deaths caused by it in the last 5 weeks having been 17, 25, 33, 28, and (last week) 45. The deaths from this complaint in the week that ended 15th of July last year were 46. No cholera is reported, with the exception of 2 cases, in which the disease described as "choleraic diarrhoea" was fatal to infants. Of the 45 cases of diarrhoea, 5 occurred in each of the three divisions, West, North, and Central, 13 in the East, and 17 in the South division. Four occurred in the district of Rotherhithe.

Last week the births of 679 boys and 691 girls, in all 1370 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1296.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.649 in. The mean temperature was 64.5°, which is 2.8° above the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was above the average on every day except Wednesday, and rose on Tuesday and Friday above 67°, which is more than 5° above the average. The highest temperature in the week was 79.3°, and occurred on Tuesday; the lowest was 53.8°, and occurred on Sunday. The thermometer in the sun rose to 105° on Friday. The mean dew point temperature was 57.9°, and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was 6.6°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 67.7°. Rain to the amount of 1.65 in. fell on Tuesday and Wednesday; of that quantity 1.42 in. fell on the latter day. London was visited by a thunderstorm about half past six o'clock on the morning of Saturday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

SHOREDITCH; Holywell.—At 7 Patey’s-court, on 11th July, the son of a stationer, aged 11 months, “diarrhoea, febris.” Mr. Alabaster, the Registrar, says :—“The father complains very much of the court in which his child died. He says that when the water comes on the stench from the drains is abominable, and that there is only one water-closet to 10 houses in this court.”

WESTMINSTER; St. Margaret.—At 7 Smith’s-rents, on 8th July, the son of a shoemaker, aged 3 years, “choleraic diarrhoea (16 hours).”

WEST LONDON; North.—At 39 King-street, on 12th July, the daughter of a cigar-maker, aged 3 months, “choleraic diarrhoea (24 hours).”

LEWISHAM; Lee.—At Russell-cottages, on 12th July, the son of a missionary, aged 4 years, “African fever, enlarged spleen, ascites and anasarca.”

* The returns of deaths for the sub-districts of Shadwell and St. Mary Newington were not received in time for insertion in the above Tables. Averages of 7 for the former and 5 for the latter, derived from the returns of six previous weeks, are inserted instead thereof in the Tables above, and also in the Tables pp. 228-30. In the Table of Diseases the sum of the averages, 12, is placed to Causes not specified. The true numbers are now ascertained to be 10 for Shadwell and 6 for St. Mary Newington.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY..	Weak positive electricity has been constant throughout the week.	The sky was generally clear throughout the day.
MONDAY..		The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with cloud throughout the day. A few drops of rain fell at noon, and heavy rain fell after 10h. p.m. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen during the evening, accompanied with distant thunder.
TUESDAY..		The amount of cloud was small till noon, during the remainder of the day the sky was generally overcast. A few drops of rain fell during the evening.
WEDNESDAY		The sky was overcast throughout the day; heavy rain fell almost without intermission.
THURSDAY.		Until noon the sky was covered with cloud, during the remainder of the day the amount of cloud was variable.
FRIDAY..		The sky, with slight exceptions, was clear throughout the day.
SATURDAY.		Till 9h. A.M. the sky was covered with cloud, from this time until noon it was clear, one half covered with cloud during the afternoon, and clear at night. Lightning was seen frequently during the night, and between 6h. and 7h. A.M. a thunder-storm occurred.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering thermos. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 65.7°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 64.5°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 67.1° and 62.2° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.93 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.39 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 11th; increased to 29.84 in. by the morning of the 13th; continued at about this reading throughout the day; was 29.70 in. at 9h. A.M. on the 14th; and increased to 29.80 in. by the end of the week.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

DURING three weeks of this month the population of London have enjoyed improved health. This is shown by a reduction of the mortality to the extent of about 150 deaths a week below the mortality of the previous month. Last week the deaths registered were 915. In the corresponding weeks of the ten years 1845-54 the average number was 1027, which, if corrected for increase of population, becomes 1130. In comparing the present return with the estimated result it is necessary to observe that in the week which ended 21st July 1849 (embraced in the average) cholera was fatal in 678 cases, and raised the deaths from all causes to 1741; otherwise a conclusion will be drawn rather more favourable for last week than the mortality that has prevailed in ordinary periods would justify.

The zymotic class of diseases produced last week 229 deaths, being a fourth part of the total mortality. This amount is as high as it usually is at this period. Diarrhœa, of which there were 67 fatal cases, is making progress with the rising temperature. The numbers from this complaint in the last six weeks have been 17, 25, 33, 28, 45, and 67. Of the 67 cases 51 occurred amongst children under the age of one year; 8 amongst those one year old and under 2 years. Four cases of cholera were recorded last week, 3 of which occurred to infants; the remaining case was that of a woman, aged 56 years, who died in Walworth from "choleraic diarrhœa" after 13 hours illness. Scarlatina carried off 34 children, 6 of whom died in St. George, Southwark, 4 in Woolwich. In the former district 2 deaths from scarlatina occurred in one house situated in Elliott's-row; and in the latter district 2 in a house in Mulgrave-place.

Last week the births of 798 boys and 724 girls, in all 1522 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1327.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean reading of the barometer in the week was 29·739 in. At the end of the week the reading was at 30·03 in. The mean temperature of the week was 59·6°, which is 2·4° below the average of the same week in 38 years. On Thursday, when it rained heavily, the mean temperature was 54·9°, which is 7° below the average. The highest temperature occurred on Sunday (the 15th) and was 76·8°; the lowest on Saturday, when it was 48·3°. The mean dew-point temperature was 52·0°, which is 7·6° below the mean temperature of the air. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 66·9°. The wind blew generally from the west. Rain fell to the amount of 1·04 in., of which 6-10ths of an inch fell on Monday, and the remainder on Thursday. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen, and thunder was heard between 5 and 6 P.M. on Thursday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

SHOREDITCH; Holywell.—At 5 Bowl-court, on 16th July, a boy, aged 9 months, “cholera (24 hours).”

WHITECHAPEL; Aldgate.—At the Refinery, Royal Mint Street, on 15th July, the son of a refiner, aged 4 months, “diarrhoea (1 week), then suddenly taken with cholera symptoms, and died in 3 hours after.”

BERMONDSEY; Leather Market.—At 9 Ship and Mermaid-row, on 17th July, the son of a tripe-dresser, aged 7 weeks, “cholera (8 days), diarrhoea.”

NEWINGTON; St. Peter, Walworth.—At 14 Portland-street, on 18th July, the wife of a greengrocer, aged 56 years, “choleraic diarrhoea (13 hours).”

In the same sub-district, on 15th July, a gentleman, aged 74 years, “noli me tangere (many years).”

ST. PANCRAS; Somers Town.—At 36 Chalton-street, on 14th July, an apprentice to a butcher, aged 17 years, “hydrophobia (36 hours).” Bitten by a dog in the month of December 1854. Deceased was apprenticed to a butcher in High-street, Camden Town, to whom the dog belonged. The dog was never seen after it had bitten deceased.

LAMBETH; Waterloo (2d Part).—At 62 James-street, on 4th July, the son of a labourer, aged 16 years, “natural death, a fit, (under 1 hour).” Mr. Daws, the Registrar, writes:—“Deceased was blind and totally deaf; he could not hear himself speak, and his voice was altered. He first gradually lost his sight, and was placed in the Blind School, where he learned to read. Subsequently his hearing left him in a similar manner. His friends communicated with him by touching parts of his body, but more frequently by taking his finger and writing with it. He was naturally very intelligent. On the day of his death he was engaged in soling a pair of shoes, when he was taken suddenly ill, and hastened down stairs, saying, “I am dying, my jaws are locked,” and it was seen that they were drawn aside. He expired in about an hour afterwards.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The sky was generally one half covered with cloud until evening, after which time it was overcast.

The sky was overcast throughout the day. Rain fell until noon and also at night.

The sky was generally covered with cloud throughout the day.

Until noon the amount of cloud was small, during the remainder of the day three fourths of the sky were covered.

The sky was covered with cloud until night, after which time it was for the most part clear. Lightning in frequent flashes was seen, and thunder was heard, between 5h. and 6h. P.M. Rain fell from 7h. A.M. till noon, and heavily between 5h. and 6h. P.M.

The sky was for the most part covered with cloud till noon, during the remainder of the day the amount of cloud was variable. A thick atmosphere.

The sky was for the most part obscured with thin clouds and haze till evening, and clear afterwards. A thick atmosphere.

ELECTRICITY.

Positive generally. On the 16th and 19th negative, with very strong tension during the time rain was falling, and volleys of loud sparks and galvanic currents were frequent.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., P.L., 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering thermos. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken. The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 61.0°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 60.4°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 61.0° and 58.2° respectively.

The reading of the barometer was very nearly stationary from the beginning of the week till 10h. A.M. on the 15th; decreased to 29.37 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 16th; increased to 29.64 in. by the morning of the 18th, which reading continued almost without variation throughout the day; then decreased to 29.46 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 19th; and increased to 30.03 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, JULY 28.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE DEATHS registered in London, which in the previous week had been 915, rose in that which ended last Saturday to 1036. In the corresponding weeks of the ten years 1845-54 the average number was 1087, which, however, comprises the mortality caused by the cholera epidemics of 1849 and 1854, and would in normal conditions have been less than 1000. That average, if raised by a tenth part for increase of population, becomes 1196.

This period of the year is unfavourable to the health of young children living in London, and its influence begins to be visible in an increase of mortality. The deaths of infants who had not completed their first year were in the two previous weeks 223 and 217 respectively; last week they were 308. Of the principal causes to which these 308 deaths are referred, diarrhœa claims the greatest number, viz., 74; to debility are referred 32, to atrophy 39, to tabes mesenterica 12, to convulsions 36, to teething 9, to want of breast milk 9. The total number of deaths from diarrhœa last week was 93; in the former week it was 67. Nine deaths were returned for last week as caused by cholera, including "cholera infantum" and "choleraic diarrhœa." Six of the cases occurred amongst children less than one year old; the rest among adults 20 years of age and upwards. Although two are reported as "Asiatic cholera," they were probably only cases of the usual summer epidemic, and as the season is now comparatively late, it is to be hoped that London will this year escape another visitation. In the corresponding week of 1849 there were 783 deaths from cholera, and in that of last year there were 133. The 93 deaths of last week from diarrhœa are thus distributed: 14 in the West districts, 12 in the North, 17 in the Central, 23 in the East, and 27 in the South districts. Scarlatina and typhus were fatal in 8 cases in the West, in 12 in the North, in 16 in the Central, in 25 in the East, and 30 in the South districts.

Last week the births of 726 boys and 677 girls, in all 1403 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1377.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·731 in. The mean temperature of the week was 61·3°, which is 0·7° below the temperature of the same week on an average of 38 years. The highest temperature of the week was 78·5°, and occurred on Sunday; the lowest, which was 51·0°, occurred on Thursday. The mean dew point temperature was 57·1°, and the difference between this and the mean air temperature was 4·2°. The highest reading of a thermometer in the sun was 100° on Sunday. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 65°. The wind blew from the south-west. Rain to the amount of 1·99 in. fell in the week, of which so much as 1·15 in. fell on Thursday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

KENSINGTON; St. Paul Hammersmith.—At 5 Pleasant-place, Uxbridge-road, on 24th July, the daughter of a servant, aged 9 months, “choleraic diarrhœa (48 hours).”

CHELSEA; South.—At 29 Church-street, on 24th July, the wife of a laundry keeper, aged 64 years, “passive diarrhœa (1 week), cholera Asiatica (12 hours), consecutive fever (24 hours).”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the THIRTIETH Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

ELECTRICITY.		GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY . .		The sky was covered during the earlier portion of the morning, and generally free from cloud afterwards. Haze was very prevalent.
MONDAY . .		The sky was for the most part obscured with thin clouds and haze throughout the day.
TUESDAY . .		The sky was overcast during the morning and afternoon, and partially clear at night. Rain fell until near noon.
WEDNESDAY . .	Positive, and at times negative, with very strong tension during the time rain was falling. Volleys of loud sparks and galvanic currents were frequent.	The sky was overcast till near noon, during the remainder of the day the amount of cloud was variable. Rain fell during the earlier portion of the morning, and heavy showers fell during the afternoon; distant thunder was heard.
THURSDAY . .		The sky was overcast until evening, and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards. Rain fell heavily, generally, throughout the day.
FRIDAY . .		The amount of cloud was constantly varying throughout the day. Heavy showers of rain fell frequently.
SATURDAY . .		The sky was at times about one half, and at others three fourths covered with cloud throughout the day. Rain fell during the earlier portion of the morning.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read; during the first three days of the week the thermometer on grass was out of order. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 63.2°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 60.5°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 62.7° and 59.0° respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 30.03 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.05 in. by 10h. A.M. on the 22d; decreased to 29.54 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 24th; increased to 29.69 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 25th; decreased to 29.65 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 26th; and increased to 29.79 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, AUGUST 4.

[No. 31.]

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week that ended on Saturday the deaths of 963 persons, viz. 473 males and 490 females, were registered in London. In the corresponding week of 1849 the deaths from all causes rose to 1967, and in that of 1854 to 1456, cholera having made considerable progress at both those periods. Taking corresponding weeks in the last ten years it will be found that the deaths ranged above 1000 in all the weeks of the series except three, those of 1845, 1847, and 1850. The deaths returned for last week (which occurred in an increased population) when compared with the facts now stated present a very favourable result.

At this season, which the fatal experience of former years invests with more than ordinary interest to the London population, it is gratifying to find that the metropolitan reports, though they show that the usual summer cholera is on the increase, are still free from indications of the more virulent epidemic. The steady increase of diarrhœa is seen in the following numbers which show the deaths from that complaint in the last five weeks: 28, 45, 67, 93, and (last week) 110. But the temperature is moderate, and the point which the mortality from diarrhœa has yet attained is, comparatively, not high; in the corresponding week of 1846, when the mean temperature rose to  $69^{\circ}1'$ , diarrhœa was fatal in 186 cases; in that of 1848 it was fatal in 141; in 1849 the number was 179; in the following year 136; and in the same week of last year 142. Of the 110 deaths of last week 90 occurred to children less than two years old. Cholera is reported as fatal to 7 persons, 4 of whom were infants; of the remaining three, 2 died of diarrhœa or fever with choleraic symptoms, one of cholera, designated Asiatic, after 6 days' illness from diarrhœa in a confined and unwholesome dwelling. 20 deaths were caused by small-pox, 37 by scarlatina. Two families lost each 2 children by the latter malady, and in both cases the occupiers of the houses complain\* of abominable smells from garbage or other rubbish, which preclude them from opening the windows for ventilation.

Last week the births of 880 boys and 798 girls, in all 1678 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1378.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was  $29^{\circ}691$  in. The mean temperature of the week was  $62^{\circ}5'$ , which is  $0^{\circ}3'$  above the average of the same week in 38 years. The highest temperature in the week was  $75^{\circ}5'$ , and occurred on Sunday (the 29th); the lowest was  $51^{\circ}$ , and occurred on Wednesday. The mean dew-point temperature was  $55^{\circ}4'$ , and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was  $7^{\circ}1'$ . The temperature of the water of the Thames was  $65^{\circ}9'$ . The wind blew almost invariably from the south-west. Rain fell to the amount of  $0^{\circ}38$  in., of which  $0^{\circ}30$  in. fell on Tuesday.

WHITECHAPEL; Mile End New Town.—At 3 Heneage-street, on 27th July, the son of a last-maker, aged 4 years, “scarlatina (5 days).”

On the same day and in the same house, the daughter of the same parents, aged 17 months, “scarlatina (8 days).” Mr. Leach, the Registrar, was informed that “in the vicinity of this house there is a large dust bin erected for general use, and not regularly attended to, the smell from which is so great that the occupier cannot open his back windows in consequence of it.”

GREENWICH; Woolwich Arsenal.—At 5 Richard-street, on 27th and 30th July, two daughters of a fancy stationer, aged respectively 12 and 5 years, “scarlatina maligna, exhaustion.” Mr. Rixon, the Registrar, writes :—“The father of these two young persons informs me that the nuisance in the rear of his house is unbearable. He has a butcher on one side and a fishmonger on the other; a new drain was put down about a fortnight since, communicating with the common sewer, but is now choked up with offal and stinking fish. The nuisance is so bad, that he says it is impossible for him to get any ventilation by opening doors or windows. Dr. Richardson states on his certificates that ‘the recovery of the children was almost a matter of impossibility in consequence of the nuisances in the adjoining house and locality.’”

PANCRAS; Gray’s Inn Lane.—At 3 Argyle-row, on 1st August, a grocer, aged 66 years, “diarrhoea (6 days), cholera Asiatica.” Mr. Worrell, the Registrar, says :—“The dwelling is confined and unwholesome.”

SHOREDITCH; Haggerstone East.—At 6 Livermere-road, on 30th July, the daughter of a labourer, aged 7 months, “infantile cholera (2 days).”

BETHNAL GREEN; The Green.—At 7 Collingwood-street, on 29th July, a barman, aged 25 years, “diarrhoea (2 days), choleraic symptoms (16 hours).”

BETHNAL GREEN; Town.—At 6 Little York-street, on 29th July, a female silk weaver, aged 19 years, “choleraic fever (5 days).”

WHITECHAPEL; Whitechapel Church.—At 4 Buckle-street, on 30th July, the son of a tailor, aged 26 days, “cholera infantum (48 hours).”

ST. GEORGE-IN-THE-EAST; St. Paul.—At 7 Bluegate-fields, on 29th July, a girl, aged 7 months, “choleraic diarrhoea (3 days).”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the THIRTY-FIRST Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the corresponding week of the preceding year, by referring to the column headed "Deaths in Districts, &c. in the Week ending Saturday," and the column headed "Averages of Temperature and Deaths in 10 Weeks."

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. I, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 66°.7; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 61°.4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 65°.1 and 59°.2 respectively.

The reading of the barometer continued about 29.79 in. till after noon on the 29th; then decreased to 29.62 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 31st; increased to 29.73 in. by noon on the 2d; decreased to 29.56 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 3d; and increased to 29.66 in. by the end of the week.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The sky was generally three fourths covered with cloud throughout the day. Haze was very prevalent during the morning.

The sky was one half covered with cloud during the morning and afternoon, and at night it was overcast. Rain fell at night.

The sky was overcast till evening. Rain fell frequently during the day.

Three fourths of the sky were covered till noon; during the remainder of the day one third part was for the most part covered.

The sky was generally clear till noon, and the amount of cloud was variable during the remainder of the day. Rain fell during the evening.

One half of the sky was covered with cloud during the morning, and the sky was overcast afterwards.

The amount of cloud was variable throughout the day. A shower of rain fell at noon.

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]

WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, AUGUST 11.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE returns of the metropolitan Registrars are still of a satisfactory character, and show that if the public health is not so good in London as in districts that are subject to more favourable conditions, it is in a better state than is usual at this season of the year. In the week that ended last Saturday the total number of deaths registered was 993, of which 482 were those of males, and 511 those of females. In the corresponding weeks of 1849 and 1854, when so many lives were attacked by cholera, the deaths rose to nearly double that number, to 1909 in the former year, and to 1832 in the latter; and in the other corresponding weeks of the series of years 1845-54 the number in four instances considerably exceeded 1000. The deaths of last week occurred in an increased population, and the present rate of mortality is therefore comparatively low.

The returns announce only 5 cases of cholera for last week, 3 of which were "choleraic diarrhœa," or "cholera infantum." Two of the cases, apparently of a worse type, occurred one in Streatham, the other in Spitalfields. The diarrhœa so prevalent in August and September, and fatal principally to infants, was shown in last report to be increasing. According to the present returns 146 persons died of diarrhœa, of whom no less than 125 were under two years of age, one was 2 years old, one 3, one 4; 12 were 60 years of age and upwards; and only 6, of ages within the long intervening period of life, suffered fatally from the disease. The deaths from diarrhœa last week are not, however, more than the average in corresponding weeks of the last ten years. Of the five divisions of London, the greatest number of deaths from diarrhœa occurred in the North and East districts, and it deserves to be remarked that of 37 registered in the North division, 14 occurred in the district of Islington. Only 2 occurred in Wandsworth and none in Camberwell, though their united population is greater than that of Islington.

Last week the births of 833 boys and 750 girls, in all 1583 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1387.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·825 in. The mean temperature of the week was 61°, which is 0·7° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The highest temperature occurred on Tuesday, and was 75°; the lowest, which occurred on Friday, was 47·6°. The highest reading of a thermometer in the sun was 97° on Tuesday. The mean dew point temperature of the week was 53·8°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 7·2°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 66·1°. The wind blew generally from the south-west. Rain fell to the amount of 0·79 in., nearly all of which fell on Tuesday and Wednesday. There were thunder and heavy showers on both those days.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

MARYLEBONE; Cavendish-square.—At 20 Little Marylebone, on 7th August, the widow of a farmer, aged 70 years, “choleraic diarrhoea (several days).”

ST. LUKE; Old-street.—At 10 James-street, on 10th August, the daughter of a servant, aged 4 months, “diarrhoea (14 days), cholera infantum (6 days).”

WHITECHAPEL; Artillery.—At 24 Union-street, Spitalfields, on 4th August, the wife of a baker, aged 30 years, “diarrhoea (5 days), cholera maligna (6½ hours).”

LAMBETH; Lambeth Church (1st Part).—At 5 Asylum-place, on 5th August, the son of a gardener, aged 18 months, “choleraic diarrhoea.”

WANDSWORTH; Streatham.—At Baker’s-lane, on 2d August, a gardener, aged 56 years, “cholera (2 days), consecutive fever (3 days).”

ST. GEORGE; Hanover-square.—At 6 Lancashire-court, Bond-street, on 9th and 10th August, the twin daughters of a tailor, aged 14 months, “pertussis (5 months), diarrhoea, convulsions (1 fortnight).” Mr. Jay, the Registrar, says:—“The twins were seized with the same disease on the same day, and both died within a few hours of each other,—a thing which is by no means of unusual occurrence.”

WHITECHAPEL; North.—At 6 Love-court, on 8th August, the widow of a general dealer, aged 100 years, “natural decay.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the THIRTY-SECOND Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Usually positive at each examination, with variable tension, but negative on the approach of rain; volleys of sparks and galvanic currents during the time rain was falling.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Three fourths of the sky were generally covered with cloud throughout the day; haze was prevalent during the morning. The sky was covered with cloud throughout the day, Rain fell at intervals during the morning and also in the evening.

Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud until evening, after which time it was generally overcast. Rain fell heavily during the evening, and thunder was frequently heard.

The amount of cloud was variable throughout the day. Frequent and heavy showers of rain fell, and thunder was heard.

The sky was covered with cloud till noon; during the remainder of the day it was for the most part clear.

The sky was for the most part covered throughout the day. Fog and haze was very prevalent.

The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with cloud throughout the day.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, - lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 62°·9; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 62°·0; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 63°·0 and 60°·0 respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29°·66 in. at the beginning of the week to 29°·96 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 6th; decreased to 29°·53 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 8th; increased to 30°·12 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 11th; and decreased to 30°·09 in. by the end of the week.

WEEKLY RETURN

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]      WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, AUGUST 18.      [No. 33.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths registered in London rose from 993 in the previous week to 1095 in that which ended last Saturday. In comparing the results of the last two weeks in the several periods of life it appears that the deaths under 20 years of age rose from 551 to 623; at 20 years and under 40 they were 145 and 144; in the period 40–60 years they were 120 and 132; in the next period 60–80 the number increased from 146 to 159; and of persons who had attained 80 years of age and upwards the deaths were 31 in the previous week and 37 in the last.

Though the present return shows an increase, the mortality is much less than it was on an average in the corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54. In the corresponding week of 1849 cholera raised the deaths from all causes to 2230, and in that of last year the same epidemic raised them to 1833. The deaths from cholera in those periods were respectively 1230 and 729. In seasons like the present when this disease is not extending its ravages the deaths from it have averaged 16 in the middle of August. Last week 12 were registered, of which 6 were caused by “choleraic diarrhœa,” 2 by “cholera infantum,” one was from “English cholera,” and 3 are returned simply as caused by cholera. Diarrhœa was fatal in 154 cases, of which 108 occurred to infants less than one year old, and 23 to those between one and two years of age. The increase of this complaint is seen in the fatal cases of the last six weeks; namely, 45, 67, 93, 110, 146, and 154. The average number in ten corresponding weeks, corrected for increase of population, is 159. Last week attention was drawn to the fact that more than the just proportion of deaths from diarrhœa occurred in the North districts; and it will be seen that the present returns still more remarkably support the same observation. Last week the fatal cases of diarrhœa were 24 in the West districts, 30 in the Central, the same number in the East, 25 (the least number relatively to population) on the South side of the river, and 45 in the North districts. These 45 are thus divided: 10 in Marylebone, 17 in Pancras, 16 in Islington, only 2 in Hackney, none in Hampstead. In proportion to population the deaths from diarrhœa are more numerous in Islington than in any other part of the North division.

Last week the births of 872 boys and 825 girls, in all 1697 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845–54 the average number was 1384.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 30·099 in. The mean daily reading was above 30 in. on every day except Saturday. The mean temperature of the week was 62·5°, which is 1·2° above the average of the same week in 38 years. On the last four days the temperature was considerably higher than in the beginning of the week. The highest temperature occurred on Thursday, and was 77°; the lowest occurred on Tuesday, and was 47·3°. The mean dew-point temperature was 54·5°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 8°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 65·9°. The wind was generally in the North till Saturday, when it changed to south-east. There were slight showers on the morning of Sunday (the 12th); with this exception there was no rain in the week.

KENSINGTON; St. John, Paddington.—At 3 Francis-street, on 12th August, the son of a carman, aged 18 weeks, “choleraic diarrhœa (4 days).”

KENSINGTON; Town.—At Trafalgar-place, on 8th August, the wife of a carpenter, aged 63 years, “cholera (72 hours).”

ST. GEORGE HANOVER-SQUARE; Belgrave.—At 11 Bloomfield-terrace, on 12th August, the son of a sculptor, aged 6 months, “infantile cholera (2 days).”

MARYLEBONE; All Souls.—At 24 Foley-street, on 10th August, the wife of a French polisher, aged 51 years, “choleraic diarrhœa.” The deceased suffered from diarrhœa 10 days.

CLERKENWELL; Pentonville.—At 26 White Lion-street, on 13th August, a silver chaser, aged 31 years, “English cholera (10 days).”

EAST LONDON; St. Botolph.—At 7 Skinner-street, Bishopsgate, on 17th August, the son of a provision merchant, aged 23 days, “aptha (11 days), cholera infantum (9 days).”

EAST LONDON; Cripplegate.—At 4 Beech-street, on 14th August, the son of a master printer, aged 7 months, “cholera (3 days).”

BETHNAL GREEN; Green.—At 2 West-street, on 15th August, a carpenter, aged 42 years, “choleraic diarrhœa (7 days).” The medical attendant states that “the house is bounded back and front by an open drain, the stench from which is certainly injurious to health, especially in this hot weather. In the same house his wife now lies in a hopeless state.”

STEPNEY; Mile End Old Town, Lower.—At 11 Harlow-place, Mile End-road, on 16th August, a general labourer, aged 67 years, “cholera (3 days).” The medical attendant (Mr. Rose, 10 Barnes-place) adds:—“Was attacked on the 10th August, but had no medical advice until the 14th, and refused medicine in part.”

POPLAR; Poplar.—At 14 Ferry-street, Isle of Dogs, on 15th August, the daughter of an engine smith, aged 6 years, “choleraic diarrhœa (1 day).”

ST. SAVIOUR; St. Saviour.—At 56 Ewer-street, on 12th August, the daughter of a coal porter, aged 4 months, “choleraic diarrhœa (1 week).”

LAMBETH; Lambeth Church (2d Part).—At the Workhouse, on 16th August, a boy, aged 4 months, “choleraic diarrhœa (12 hours), collapse.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the THIRTY-THIRD Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The sky was for the most part covered with cloud till evening, and clear afterwards. Showers of rain fell during the morning.

Three fourths of the sky were generally covered with cloud during the morning and afternoon; clear at night.

During the morning and afternoon the amount of cloud was variable, and at night the sky was overcast.

Three fourths of the sky were covered with cloud till noon; generally it was clear afterwards.

The sky was for the most part free from cloud throughout the day. Thick fog prevailed during the earlier portion of the morning.

The sky was clear during the earlier portion of the morning, and also at night; at other times of the day it was covered with cloud.

The sky was for the most part clear till evening, and overcast afterwards.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 64.8°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 64.3°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 65.4° and 61.9° respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 30.08 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.25 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 13th; decreased to 30.06 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 14th; increased to 30.23 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 17th; and decreased to 29.76 in. by the end of the week.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.]      WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, AUGUST 25.      [No. 34.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE TOTAL NUMBER of deaths registered in London in the week that ended last Saturday was 1003, of which 476 were deaths of males, 527 those of females. This return shows a decrease on that of the previous week, in which the number was 1095. It may be stated in general terms that the mortality is at present as low as it was, at the same season, in those years when the public health was best.

It is satisfactory to notice a decrease in fatal cases of diarrhœa. This complaint, of which infants are principally the victims, began to increase in the second week of July (in which the mean weekly temperature was  $64.5^{\circ}$ , higher than it had been in preceding weeks, or has been since), and rose continuously till the deaths reached 154 in the week that ended 18th August. Last week the deaths from diarrhœa declined to 127. The average number in the corresponding weeks of 1845-54, corrected for increase of population was 157. The high mortality from diarrhœa, lately observed in the North districts, has subsided, except in Somers Town, where the complaint appears to be very prevalent. The deaths reported for last week as caused by cholera, are 15, which is not more than is usual towards the end of August. In 10 cases the disorder is described as "cholera infantum," or "choleraic diarrhœa," and in one as English cholera. A case apparently of sudden and severe character occurred at Mile End, in which the patient was a woman of 30 years of age, and death is stated to have ensued after 17 hours' illness. Cholera, designated "Asiatic," was fatal to a girl 4 years old, after 12 hours' illness, in Church-street, in the sub-district of Christchurch St. Saviour; and a case of "Asiatic cholera" is returned in which a woman, aged 37 years, was seized when returning from a visit to her sister who was ill with cholera at Amsterdam; she died soon after her arrival at home in Houndsditch. Of 42 deaths from typhus and common fever in the week, 8 occurred in the West districts, 8 in the North, 3 in the Central, 2 in the East, and 21 in the South districts. The East districts, if exempt from typhus, suffer from scarlatina. It will be seen in the notes (next page) that a death occurred from "plica polonica," a disease seldom found in the English mortuary registers.

Last week the births of 755 boys and 785 girls, in all 1540 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1394.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was  $29.758$  in. The mean temperature was  $62.9^{\circ}$ , which is  $2.6^{\circ}$  above the average of the same week in 38 years. The highest temperature occurred on Thursday, and was  $76^{\circ}$ ; the lowest occurred on Wednesday, and was  $50.3^{\circ}$ . The mean dew point temperature was  $54.7^{\circ}$ , and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was  $8.2^{\circ}$ . The temperature of the water of the Thames was  $66.7^{\circ}$ . The general direction of the wind was south-west. There was rain to the amount of  $0.19$  in., nearly all of which fell in 15 minutes, early on the morning of Friday, when there was lightning unusually vivid and long-continued, accompanied with thunder.

KENSINGTON; St. Mary Paddington.—At 6 Church-place, on 21st August, the daughter of a park labourer, aged 11 months, “cholera infantum (3 days).”

CHELSEA; South.—At 9 Little George-street, on 23d August, the son of a general dealer, aged 4 months, “infantile cholera (14 days).”

ST. PANCRAS; Regent’s Park.—At 4 Gloucester-street, on 18th August, the wife of a retired bootmaker, aged 76 years, “choleraic diarrhœa (5 days).”

ISLINGTON; East.—At 15 Brand-street, Holloway, on 22d August, the son of a journeyman brazier, aged 1 year, “diarrhœa (2 weeks), cholera infantum.”

HACKNEY; Stoke Newington.—At 1 Millfield-place, Green-lanes, on 23d August, the daughter of a brickfield labourer, aged one year, “pertussis (5 weeks), cholera infantum (1 week).”

HACKNEY; Hackney.—At High Street, Homerton, on 19th August, the daughter of a grocer, aged 3 months, “cholera infantum (4 days).”

STRAND; St. Mary.—At 7 Hart-street, St. Paul Covent Garden, the son of a kitchen porter, aged 6 months, “choleraic diarrhœa.”

CLERKENWELL; St. James.—At 40 Percival-street, on 22d August, the daughter of a beer-seller, aged 4 months, “cholera (24 hours).”

EAST LONDON; St. Botolph.—At 101 Houndsditch, on 19th August, the wife of a furrier, aged 37 years, “Asiatic cholera.” Mr. Spencer, the Registrar, adds:—“She was taken ill with vomiting and purging on board the “Rainbow” steamer, from Rotterdam at 12 o’clock at night, and continued so until she arrived in London, about 7 o’clock in the morning, when she was immediately conveyed home and medical advice sent for, but expired 15 minutes afterwards. She had been to visit a sister who was seriously ill with cholera at Amsterdam a short time previous to her return.”

STEPNEY; Shadwell.—At Gould’s-hill Green, on 22d August, the daughter of a bone-merchant, aged 11 months, “cholera infantum (2 days).”

STEPNEY; Mile End Old Town Lower.—At 3 Queen-street, on 21st August, the wife of a carman, aged 30 years, “cholera, collapse (15 hours).” After a dinner of roast lamb, and apparently in good health, she was seized about 3 o’clock on Monday, and died at 8 o’clock Tuesday morning. Two medical gentlemen were directly and constantly in attendance.

ST. SAVIOUR; Christchurch.—At 14 Church-street, on 18th August, the daughter of a stationer’s assistant, aged 4 years, “Asiatic cholera (12 hours).”

At 7 Green-court, on 21st August, the widow of a journeyman carpenter, aged 60 years, “choleraic diarrhœa, (8 days), collapse (1 hour).”

GREENWICH; East.—At 3 Lovegrove-place, on 22d August, the son of a captain of a steam-boat, aged 3 years, “cholera infantilis.”

LEWISHAM; Plumstead.—At 41 Burrage-grove, on 16th August, the wife of a painter and glazier, aged 45 years, “English cholera (21 days).”

CLERKENWELL; Goswell-street.—At 17 Owen’s-court, on 18th August, the daughter of a letter founder, aged 1 year, “bronchitis (14 days).”

At 3 Owen’s-court, on 19th August, the son of a letter founder, aged 1 year, “pertussis (3 weeks), convulsions (3 days).” Mr. Burrows, the Registrar, was informed, that “there is a yard in close proximity to this court, from which arise occasionally dreadful smells, so that it is impossible for the occupiers to keep their doors or windows open; and the landlord, who has been applied to on the subject, refuses to do anything to remedy the evil.”

At 15 Goswell-terrace, on 23d August, the son of a compositor, aged 8 years “scarlatina anginosa (10 days).” The informant in this case states that “her husband and 3 children are all dangerously ill with scarlatina, and that the smell arising from the watercloset renders the place at times almost unbearable.”

BETHNAL GREEN; Hackney Road.—At 11 Gibraltar-walk, on 23d August, the daughter of a master wood-turner, aged 4 years, “plica polonica, exhaustion.”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner † See Note, page 274.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845–54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is deter- mined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Obser- vatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Super- intendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 64·7°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 62·5°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 65·1° and 60·0° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29·75 in. at the beginning of the week to 29·59 in. by 10h. A.M. on the 19th; increased to 29·73 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 20th; de- creased to 29·68 in. by 9h. P.M. on the same day; increased to 29·92 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 22d; decreased to 29·62 in. by the evening of the 23d; increased to 29·92 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 25th; and decreased to 29·89 in. by the end of the week.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE RETURNS of the metropolitan registrars continue to exhibit a rate of mortality which is not high for London at this period of the year. In the week that ended on Saturday the deaths from all causes registered were 1031, of which 559, or considerably more than a half, occurred under 20 years of age, 19 at 80 years or above that age; and the remainder occurred, in nearly equal numbers, in the three intermediate vicennial periods of life.

Diseases of the zymotic character now greatly preponderate in the aggregate of deaths ascribed to them; they number 317, while the tubercular class (including scrofula, tabes mesenterica, phthisis, and hydrocephalus), which stands next in amount, numbers 192, diseases of the nervous system 117, and those of the respiratory organs have declined to 100. The increase in the first class arises entirely from diarrhœa, which, however, has presented this season no unusual result, and appears in the last two weeks to have suffered a check. Diarrhœa was fatal in 134 cases last week, of which 111 occurred to infants less than two years old. Eighteen deaths are returned variously as caused by cholera, English cholera, choleraic diarrhœa, infantile cholera. In one case the disease is described as "Asiatic," and is stated to have occurred without premonitory symptoms to a man who lived in Drummond-crescent, Somers-town, and died after 12 hours' illness. The house which he inhabited is reported to be in bad sanitary condition. In 8 of the 18 cases enumerated the sufferers were adults, 20 years of age and upwards. In the corresponding week of 1849 the deaths from cholera were 1663; in that of last year they were 1287, and in the corresponding weeks of the four intervening years the deaths were respectively 4, 28, 15, and 18. Two children in a family in Upper John-street, Tottenham-court Road, died on the same day of small-pox. The death of a man, aged 51 years, was caused by hæmorrhage from the gums during 5 or 6 days. A boy, aged 3 years, died from "convulsions caused by fright on seeing a dog by which he had been bitten a fortnight before."

Last week the births of 840 boys and 831 girls, in all 1671 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1393.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.979 in. On Saturday its mean height was 30.212 in. The mean temperature of the week was 61.4°, which is 2.1° above the average of the same week in 38 years. The highest temperature occurred on Tuesday, and was 79°; the lowest occurred on Thursday, and was 47.3°. The highest readings of a thermometer in the sun were 102° and 104°, on Tuesday and Wednesday respectively. The mean dew-point temperature was 52.4°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 9°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 65.8°. The wind was generally in the south-west on the first four days; on Saturday it was in the north-east.

The following LETTER relating to nuisances in ISLINGTON has been addressed to the Registrar General.

Sir,

Superintendent Registrar's Office, Islington, 27th August 1855.

Referring to the remark contained in your weekly return of births and deaths for the week ending 18th instant, that, "in proportion to population, the deaths from diarrhoea are more numerous in Islington than in any "other part of the north division," I beg to call your attention to the existence of a most intolerable nuisance which has been in full operation for many years in this district, and which will in some measure account for the prevalence of diarrhoea both in this district and that of St. Pancras.

The neighbourhood I allude to is that of Belleisle, situated in what was formerly called "Maiden-lane," but now "York-road," nearly throughout its whole length dividing St. Pancras from Islington, and in the centre of a dense population numbering from 60,000 to 70,000. For the last 20 years this district has been more or less the locale of the most obnoxious trades carried on in the metropolis,—horse slaughtering, bone boiling, fat melting, grease manufactories, &c.; but until the last few years the nuisance was not very loudly complained of, although universally condemned. Gradually, however, while the population has been increasing, and the fields in the vicinity covered with dwellings, these establishments have increased in a like ratio, and there are now little short of 8 acres of ground devoted to every species of abomination that can poison the atmosphere, which is saturated with decomposing organic matter, so that for a great portion of the day and night it is impossible to open either the doors or windows in the West district of Islington, when the wind blows from that quarter, without inhaling an atmosphere fetid with organic impurity, and producing nausea, sickness, and a derangement of the functions of the stomach. In addition to the noxious trades carried on, establishments have lately sprung up for making artificial manure by baking night soil, blood, putrid fish, meat, vegetables, and animal ordure, with all the garbage that can be collected from the dung-hills of the metropolis; and these have been in greater activity than ever since the opening of the new market, loading the air with their foul and pestiferous vapours. A public meeting was held on Monday last to petition the Board of Health on the subject; but it having been suggested by the vestry clerk and others, that under the Nuisances Removal Act the parochial authorities could deal with the case, I trust some vigorous measures will be adopted to cleanse this worse than Augean stable, that the health of the inhabitants may not be further endangered, since there is little reason to doubt that the influences which affect the distribution of malignant disease belong more to the air than any other medium.

The deaths in Islington from cholera in 1848-49 were 187, from diarrhoea 125; in 1853-54, from cholera 99, from diarrhoea 220.

But at the first visitation in 1832, although we have no record to refer to, the whole district enjoyed almost entire immunity from its attacks. Being then a member of the Local Board of Health, I well remember not more than 11 or 12 cases were reported, and not one half of them were fatal.

Islington has long been considered, from its elevated position, and the nature of its soil, a healthy suburb, but if such dens of filthiness be suffered to exist, any future visitation of malignant disease must tell fearfully upon its rate of mortality.

I am happy to state that the fatal cases of diarrhoea have last week fallen to 5, all of which were in the East district.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

WILLIAM MAY,

Superintendent Registrar.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and in the THIRTY-FIFTH Week of each of the following Years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

Cistern of bar, 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R.S.'s of flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of the readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken. The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 63.8°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 61.0°; the mean reading of the Royal Observatory for the same times were 65.0° and 57.1° respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.89 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.97 in. by the morning of the 26th; continued at this reading, with very slight variation, throughout the day; decreased to 29.68 in. by noon on the 28th; turned to increase after 3h. P.M.; was 30.16 in. at 9h. A.M. on the 30th; decreased to 30.07 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 31st; and increased to 30.26 in. by the end of the week.

ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	The sky was generally clear throughout the day.
MONDAY.	The sky was partially clear during the evening; at other times of the day it was generally covered with cloud.
TUESDAY.	The sky was three fourths covered with cloud during the afternoon; at other times of the day it was clear.
WEDNESDAY.	One third portion of the sky was covered with cloud frequently during the afternoon, and the sky was mostly clear at other times of the day.
THURSDAY.	The sky, with slight exceptions, was clear throughout the day.
FRIDAY.	The sky was three fourths covered with cloud during the morning, and it was clear during the remainder of the day.
SATURDAY.	One half of the sky was covered with cloud during the morning; it was generally overcast during the afternoon, and clear at night. A little rain fell at 3h. P.M.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE RETURNS of the London Registrars show that 1015 persons, of whom 551 were males and 464 females, died in the week that ended on Saturday. The mortality has continued at nearly the same rate during the last three weeks, and is not high for a season which in the metropolis is always more unhealthy than the early months of summer. The difference between September and the months of June and July as regards the effect produced on the public health is measured on an average by about 120 deaths in a week.

The mean temperature declined from  $61\cdot4^{\circ}$  in the preceding week to  $55\cdot7^{\circ}$  last week, as shown by the observations at Greenwich. On Thursday the mean temperature was only  $51\cdot9^{\circ}$ , which is  $6^{\circ}$  below the average for the same day; and with the exception of Tuesday it was below the average throughout the week. The coldness of the weather has effected apparently a diminution of cases of diarrhoea, and of those which are returned as cholera, or choleraic diarrhoea. In the previous three weeks diarrhoea was fatal successively in 154, 127, 134 cases; and last week the number declined to 107; and cholera has decreased in the last two weeks from 18 cases to 6. Of these 6 deaths, 4 occurred to infants, one of whom died of "malignant cholera" at a public house in Brooks-mews, Hanover-square; a man died of cholera after 3 days' illness in Shepperton Cottages, Islington; and another of "choleraic diarrhoea" in Westminster. Of the deaths from diarrhoea, 4 occurred in Saint Mary Paddington; 3 in Fulham; 7 in Marylebone; 9 in Pancras; 8 in Islington; 8 in Saint Giles; 3 in Bethnal-green (Town sub-district); 7 in Whitechapel; 7 in Stepney; 3 in the sub-district of Woolwich Arsenal. Fever exhibits an increase, and 5 of the deaths from it occurred in Saint Peter Walworth.

Last week the births of 803 boys and 774 girls, in all 1577 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1422.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was  $30\cdot069$  in. The mean reading of Friday was  $30\cdot316$  in. The mean temperature of the week was  $55\cdot7^{\circ}$ , which is  $2\cdot5^{\circ}$  below the average of the same week in 38 years. The highest reading in the week of a thermometer in the shade was  $73\cdot3^{\circ}$  on Tuesday; the lowest was  $37\cdot7^{\circ}$  on Saturday; on which day the highest was  $73\cdot0^{\circ}$ . The mean dew point temperature of the week was  $46\cdot8^{\circ}$ , and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was  $8\cdot9^{\circ}$ . The mean temperature of the water of the Thames was  $63\cdot3^{\circ}$ . The wind blew from the north-east and north. No rain fell in the week, except a few drops on the mornings of Wednesday and Thursday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ST. GEORGE ; Hanover-square.—At the Plough Public-house, Brooks-mews, on 3d September, the son of a licensed victualler, aged 1 year, “diarrhœa (5 days), malignant cholera (1 day).”

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 8, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1, and deducted from the total of class 10. Corresponding deductions are made from the totals of the particular diseases childbirth and rheumatism. In the lines partly formed by asterisks the averages are derived not from the deaths of 10 years but those of 7 years.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54, after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years;

Cistern of bar. 159 ft. above mean level of sea. Readings coincident with those of R. S.'s flint-glass standard bar. Obs. taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; 9h. P.M. The means of readings in Cols. 4, 7, 8, observed at these times, stand as corrected by Mr. Glaisher from obs. of 5 yrs. ending Dec. 31, 1845 (Phil. Trans., Pt. 1, 1848). From values thus obtained, Col. 13 is derived. Col. 7 includes results deduced from max. and min. (self-registering) thermom. with corrections. Readings in Cols. 9, 10, 11, 12 are placed opposite the day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The numbers in Cols. 14 and 15 are determined by the use of maximum and minimum thermometers with wetted bulbs. Col. 16 is determined by Mr. Glaisher from all the thermometrical observations made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the 38 years ending 1851. In Col. 16, + means higher, — lower than average. Temp. of Thames is obtained from self-registering therm. suspended from Dreadnought Hosp. Ship, 2 ft. below the surface (under Captain Sanders, R.N., Superintendent). Whewell's anemometer (Col. 22.) is read at 10h. A.M. The result is for 24 hours previous, and is placed opposite the day preceding that on which the reading is taken.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 58.7°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 55.8°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 58.9° and 52.2° respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30.26 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.83 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 4th; increased to 30.34 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 7th; and decreased to 30.12 in. by the end of the week.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

[No. 37.]

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE MORTALITY of London, as shown by the returns for last week, differs little from the average for the second week of September, or from the mortality that has prevailed in the previous three weeks. The number of persons who died in the week that ended on Saturday is 1033, of whom 523 are males, and 510 females. About a half of the entire number died under 20 years of age; 40 had lived 80 years, or had attained a greater age; and one person, a female, is reported to have reached the age of 101.

Diarrhœa or summer cholera continues to show a decrease, a circumstance which is probably due to the coldness of the season. The fatal cases of diarrhœa have been in the last five weeks 154, 127, 134, 107, and 96. Only 4 deaths are returned as caused by cholera, 2 of which are those of infants; of the other cases one occurred to a sailor on board ship in the New Crane Dock, and one described as "Asiatic cholera" to a plumber in Market-street, London-road, who died after 24 hours' illness. The season which is most favourable to an outbreak of cholera has nearly passed, and it seems not premature to hope that London will for this year escape a scourge with which other parts of Europe are afflicted. Besides 38 deaths from scarlatina, 60 occurred last week from typhus and other fever; and in Bailey's-court, Liberty of the Rolls, a house is reported where three cases of typhus occurred lately, one of which proved fatal. The house is defective in drainage, and in other respects is said to be in bad sanitary condition.

Last week the births of 816 boys and 734 girls, in all 1550 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1379.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·943 in. The mean temperature of the week was 56°, nearly the same as in the preceding week, and 1° below the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature of Saturday was only 52·5°, which is 4° below the average of the same day. The highest temperature occurred on Wednesday, and was 72°; the lowest on Monday, and was 42·5°. The mean dew-point temperature was 51·6°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 4·4°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 60·1°. The wind was generally in the north-east. Rain to the amount of 0·46 in. fell on Thursday and Friday.

The Registrars, in compliance with instructions given to them, make occasional communications in their returns with reference to the deaths they have registered, and to particular circumstances in which these have occurred. The correctness of such opinions and statements must be held to rest exclusively on the testimony of the Registrars, and of the medical or other informants.

ISLINGTON; East.—At 41 Rufford’s-buildings, on 12th September, the daughter of a boot-closer, aged 8 months, “choleraic diarrhœa (4 days), collapse.”

STEPNEY; Shadwell.—On board the barque “Brightman,” New Crane Dock, on 14th September, a mate, aged 27 years, “neglected diarrhœa (7 days), cholera (9 hours).”

SOUTHWARK; London Road.—At 50 Market-street, on 9th September, a plumber and glazier, aged 43 years, “Asiatic cholera (24 hours).”

WHITECHAPEL; Mile End New Town.—At 43 Underwood-street, on 5th September, the son of a domestic servant, aged 5 months, “English cholera (9 days).”

In the same sub-district, at 2 Underwood-street, on 9th and 12th September, the daughter and son of a cabinet-maker, aged respectively 7 weeks and 2 years, “variola.” Mr. Leach, the Registrar, says:—“Neither of these children had been vaccinated; several other children were attacked, but having been previously vaccinated, they had the disease very slightly.”

ST. GEORGE; Hanover Square.—On 8th September, a lady, aged 29 years, died suddenly after taking a very small quantity of chloroform for the relief of neuralgia.

STRAND; St. Clement Danes.—At King’s College Hospital, from 2 Bailey’s court, Liberty of the Rolls, on 10th September, a labourer, aged 43 years, “typhus.” Mr. Fitch, the Registrar, reports that “three bad cases of typhus have occurred in this house within three weeks. It is said to be very close, without proper drainage or ventilation.”

EAST LONDON; St. Botolph.—At 14 Angel-court, Aldgate, on 12th September, the widow of a general dealer, aged 101 years, “diarrhœa senectus.” She was born at Amsterdam; she had good health during her life, and retained her faculties to the last.

* The returns of deaths from the sub-districts of St. Peter Hammersmith, City of London North-east, St. Mary Newington, and Putney, were not received in time for insertion in the above Tables, or in the Tables pp. 300-3. In lieu thereof, averages amounting altogether to 12, derived from the returns of six previous weeks, are inserted; and in the Table of Diseases that sum is added to Causes not specified. For St. Peter the average is 2, and the true number is ascertained to be 2; for City North-east the average 4, the true number 2; for St. Mary the average 4, the true number 4; and for Putney the average 2, the true number also 2.

NOTE.—The Occupations are here arranged according to the principle of classification adopted in the Census Returns of 1851. The 17 classes are further sub-divided into sub-classes which are indicated by the reference numbers inserted in this Table. The whole of the Living are returned under the several Classes, but they are only distinguished in the separate occupations in which deaths occurred during the week.

* Persons connected with the land as proprietors are in some instances returned in other classes, where they are referred to their respective occupations.

† Inmates of public institutions are referred to specific occupations when the nature of their former employment is stated.

* Since the end of 1847 the classification of diseases has undergone some modifications, in consequence of which corrections are necessary, in some places, in calculating the average. An average for metria, derived from the last 7 years and multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1 and deducted from the total of class 9; and in like manner an average for rheumatic fever, derived from the last 7 years and

multiplied by 3, is added to the total of class 1, and deducted from the total of class 10. Corresponding deductions are made from the totals of the particular diseases childbirth and rheumatism. In the lines partly formed by asterisks the averages are derived not from the deaths of 10 years but those of 7 years.

DEATHS Registered in the THIRTY-SEVENTH WEEK of each of the following Years, with the Mean Temperature for the same periods.

NOTE.—The deaths of last week may be compared with the average of deaths in corresponding weeks of 1845-54 after raising the average by a tenth part. This correction is made for increase of population; and the same rule applies to the average of deaths in any district, or from any cause, except those for which the returns of ten years are not complete. The averages of Hampstead and Lewisham are derived from the deaths of only 8 years.

WEEKLY RETURN

BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN LONDON.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY OF THE REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

1855. VOL. XVI.] WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 22.

[No. 38.]

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN THE WEEK that ended on Saturday the deaths of 931 persons (namely, 466 males and 465 females,) were registered in the metropolitan districts, a number which shows a decrease of about 100 on each of the three previous weeks, and indicates a satisfactory condition of the public health. In the corresponding weeks of 1850 and 1852, when the population was less than at present, the deaths were respectively 858 and 913. Except in these instances the number of deaths in corresponding weeks since 1846 was greater than that which appears in the present return. In the epidemic years of 1849 and 1854 cholera had by this time shown some abatement; but in the third week of September in the former year it raised the deaths from all causes to 1981, and in the latter year to 2504.

The diseases of zymotic character produce at this time more than a fourth part of the mortality. Of 253 deaths referred to this class last week, 76 were caused by diarrhœa, 63 by typhus and other fever, 50 by scarlatina, 16 by hooping-cough, 11 by small-pox, 9 by cholera, 7 by erysipelas, 5 by measles, 5 by croup, 5 (of which 3 occurred in the Paddington Workhouse) by syphilis in infants, 3 by dysentery, 2 thrush, one influenza. Diarrhœa continues to fall rapidly; the mean weekly temperature having also fallen considerably since the period in which the disease attained its maximum. A case of "malignant cholera" of 24 hours' duration was fatal in Victoria-street, Homerton, and another case apparently of severe character in Waggoner's-place, Shadwell. It was mentioned in the return for the previous week that a plumber died on the 9th instant of "Asiatic cholera" at 50 Market-street, London-road; it is now reported that the wife of a shoemaker died of cholera on the 16th in the same house.

Fever has prevailed to some extent in the sub-district of Mile-end Old Town Lower; and the Registrar of Mile-end New Town records the death of a child, on which an inquest was held, from neglect, and from the unwholesome and overcrowded state of the house in which it dwelt. Mr. Leach adds the following remarks:—"The room in which the death occurred is only about 12 feet square, and when I saw it, was occupied by 8 persons all in great poverty and distress. The debris of two houses, which had fallen down, nearly prevented communication with it, and the court, which is over-crowded, was in consequence of bad smells and want of pure air in an extremely offensive condition."

Last week the births of 841 boys and 817 girls, in all 1658 children, were registered in London. In the ten corresponding weeks of the years 1845-54 the average number was 1361.

At the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, the mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.984 in.; on the last three days the mean reading was above 30 in. The mean temperature of the week was 59.6°, which is 3.8° above the average of the same week in 38 years. The mean temperature was above the average on every day after Monday, and this excess was from 4° to nearly 6°. The highest temperature in the week was 75°, and occurred on Friday; the lowest was 48.3°, and occurred on Saturday. The range of temperature both on Friday and Saturday was 25.7°, which is nearly the whole range of the week. The mean dew point temperature was 54.6°, and the difference between this and the mean temperature of the air was 5°. The temperature of the water of the Thames was 60.4°. The general direction of the wind was south-west. A thin misty rain fell in the early part of the week, but towards the end the weather was fine, though sometimes with haze or fog.
